BLIND SENATOR ASSERTS WOMAN ASSAULTED HIM

In Opening Statement for Gore It's Alleged He Had to Struggle to Escape From Mrs. Bond.

GORE LED INTO COURT BY WIFE AND BROTHER

Mrs. Bond Alleges Senator Attacked Her in Washington, and She Wants $50,000 Damages.

Oklahoma City, Okla., February 11.—Seven farmers, two salesmen, a banker, a broker and a groceryman, were accepted today as the jury to determine the suit instituted by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, against United States Senator T. P. Gore, who charges that the Oklahoma senator attacked her while she was a guest at a Washington hotel, and asks $50,000 in damages. Before court adjourned for the day both sides had outlined their contentions, and Judge George W. Clark, who will preside at the trial, defined the scope of evidence to be permitted. The taking of testimony will begin tomorrow morning.

In his ruling, Judge Clark held that the past life of neither the plaintiff nor the defendant was vital to the case, although testimony may be presented to establish the general reputation of either parties. It is stated that under this ruling a mass of depositions will be excluded.

Struggled to Free Herself.

Ross L. Lillard made the opening statement for the plaintiff. He declared that witnesses would testify that Senator Gore attacked Mrs. Bond when she attempted to pass him in a room in which they met at the senator's suggestion to discuss the appointment of Mrs. Bond's husband, Julian Bond, to a federal position, and that in her struggle to free herself, Mrs. Bond's eyeglasses were broken.

On the following day, the attorney asserted, friends of Senator Gore endeavored to have the matter hushed up, and the woman to leave Washington.

C. B. Cruce, brother of Governor Lee Cruce, of Oklahoma, as spokesman for the defense, asserted that the senator met Mrs. Bond in the lobby of her hotel at her suggestion to discuss the possibility of the appointment of her husband, and that at Mrs. Bond's initiative, they went to the room in question, so that they could converse without interruption; that during the conversation, Mrs. Bond seized the senator and that he freed himself and left the room.

Several days later, according to Mr. Cruce, Mrs. Bond made complaint to the district attorney at Washington, but that official refused to take action.

Courtroom Crowded.

Owing to the prominence of Mr. Gore and the political significance placed on the hearing by the senator, the courtroom was crowded throughout the day. Great interest centers in the selection of the jury, because Senator Gore is a candidate for renomination at the primaries next August.

The senator is represented by a corps of six of the leading lawyers of the state. A like number is representing Mrs. Bond.

Mr. Gore was led into the courtroom by his wife and his brother and the three occupied chairs near W. A. Ledbetter, the senator's chief counsel.

In the selection of the jurors, counsel for Mrs. Bond placed special stress on questions relating to the patriotism of the talesmen, whether in finding a verdict against the senator they would consider it a disgrace to the state. Queries as to whether the obscurity of Mrs. Bond will influence them also are asked each talesman.

Mr. Gore denies all the allegations and claims that the charges have been trumped up by his political enemies.

Desire to See Family Costs Fincher Liberty; Captured by Policeman

After having eluded the police for several weeks, R. L. Fincher, the ex-policeman and the express embezzlement suspect arrested on an incoming train some time ago, was captured beneath the bright lights of upper Whitehall street last night when he dared the watchful eye of the city to see his wife and child.

Fincher, shortly after his arrest by Detectives Vickery and Hamby, was transferred to the jail at Ashburn, where arrangements were being made to prosecute him by express authorities, from whom he is said to have embezzled large sums in the capacity of station agent in a number of small villages. A few weeks ago he is said to have sawed his way to liberty.

A reward of $50 was offered for his capture. Last night Policeman L. F. Carter caught him along Whitehall street in the uptown vicinity. Fincher gave his address at police headquarters as Fort McPherson, where his wife and child are now said to be residing with relatives. His desire to see them is said to have been the cause of his journey to Atlanta and his consequent capture.

FOR THE GUARANTEE TO BANK DEPOSITS

Jackson, Miss., February 11.—The Kyle banking bill, providing for the guarantee of deposits, was passed by the house of representatives here today by a vote of 122 to 2. Having been amended by the senate, the bill was sent to conference. The guarantee clause becomes operative October, 1915.

ACCUSED BY WOMAN

SENATOR GORE OF OKLAHOMA.

Hotel Guests See Chase After Man Accused By Diners

C. O. Littler Charged With Insulting Mrs. Oscar Weinmaster and Striking Husband When He Interfered.

Fashionably gowned men and women diners of the Ansley hotel rathskeller were startled last night when a nicely dressed young man insulted Mrs. Oscar Weinmaster, wife of the widely known business man, struck her husband in the face when he resented the remarks and dashed through the entrance, hotly pursued.

The chase extended from the entrance down James street to Cone. At the intersection of Poplar the fugitive scrambled under a building. A crowd of policemen and pedestrians surrounded the structure and finally managed to coax the fugitive from his refuge.

He was carried to headquarters. The police say he was sadly intoxicated. Charges of drunk and disorderly conduct were docketed against him. He gave the name of C. O. Littler, an agent, aged 30 years, of Chicago. He first entered the name of Charles Walters, later correcting it. Bond of $1,000 was assessed by Night Chief Jett.

About 7 o'clock last night Mr. and Mrs. Weinmaster, accompanied by two young women acquaintances, entered the Ansley for dinner in the rathskeller. Mrs. Weinmaster and her companions preceded her husband through the revolving doors. Midway between the foot and head of the stairway leading to the rathskeller floor, Littler staggered upward.

Directly in front of Mrs. Weinmaster, who led her party, he is said to have thrown out his hands as if to embrace her, murmuring an insulting word that was barely audible. Mrs. Weinmaster, frightened, ducked beneath his arm and fled to the foot of the stairway. Mr. Weinmaster, just behind her, rushed at the stranger.

Littler struck Mr. Weinmaster in the face, toppling him over. He was unbalanced and barely saved himself from a nasty fall by catching at the railing support. Plain clothes policemen, attracted to the scene, followed Littler as he dashed up the stairs and into the street.

A few minutes after his capture, Mr. Weinmaster appeared at headquarters, insisting on holding the prisoner under heavy bond. He declared he would appear in court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and vigorously prosecute, as would his wife.

Litttler, the police say, was too intixicated to give a coherent account.

HIGH IN AEROPLANE, TOWERS DISCOVERS SUBMARINE MINES

Pensacola, Fla., February 11.—Lieutenant Towers, a navy aviator, late yesterday afternoon demonstrated the fact that submarine mines planted in harbors are discoverable from aeroplanes at an elevation of 1,500 feet. Five mines were planted at the entrance of the harbor here. The aviator, in his daily experiments, reported the location of the mines upon his returning to earth.

Later Lieutenant Bellinger, without knowledge of the report of his fellow officer or the fact that mines had been placed, ascended to a height of 2,000 feet, at which elevation he not only discovered the mines the second time, but traced their chains to each individual anchor.

Navy officers here attach great importance to these developments in the use of the airships and claim that they indicate the importance of aviation and aviators in future wars. The discovery of these submarine mines is explained by aviators and their brother officers in the fact that at great heights the reflection upon the water tends to make it more transparent and of a highly magnifying tendency.

"GHOST OF PAST" ADDS AN ARREST TO LONG RECORD

New York, February 11.—New York's oldest pickpocket, 70 years of age, scarcely able to walk, but still active in petty crime, added today another arrest to his long record. His name is John Hanley; the police call him "The Ghost of the Past." He was caught stealing a purse from a girl in a crowd boarding a trolley car. "I've been in the business for forty years," said Hanley, "and in jail most of the time. My father tried to make me a stone cutter, but I was too delicate to work."

Hanley was first arrested as a pickpocket in 1874.

AMERICAN TROOPS FOLLOWING AUTOS FULL OF MEXICANS

Agents of Dictator Huerta Are Trying to Rush Filibusters Across the Rio Grande Near El Paso.

HUERTA HOPES TO FLANK REBEL LEFT AT JUAREZ

About Thirty Big Autos, Loaded With Men and Guns, Are Being Chased by United States Troops.

El Paso, Texas, February 11.—An attempt to rush Mexicans, recruited in this city by Huerta's recruiting agents, across the river tonight brought out four troops of the Fifteenth cavalry to prevent the violation of neutrality.

General Hugh L. Scott, in command at Fort Bliss, has been on the alert, owing to rumors of a plot to place a flanking force on the rebel left at Juarez by making a rush from this side, and his men were in the saddle almost the instant the news came that the Mexicans were rushing down the river bank on the American side in automobiles.

Rush of Automobiles.

The attempt was made about 10 o'clock and the news reached General Scott in telephone messages from the Ysleta road, asking the meaning of the rush of automobiles that way.

At the Smith dairy farm, five miles east, an observer estimated the number of machines at thirty.

The machines were loaded with men, those who telephoned said, all armed with rifles and there were boxes which were assumed to carry ammunition in addition to that in the belts of the men.

At Ysleta the American troops concentrated and trace of the motor cars, temporarily at least, was lost.

Meanwhile word came from Juarez that the rebels, who had information through their secret agents that the attempt would be made, had captured some of the would-be federals and were bringing the prisoners back to headquarters.

Villa Prepared Ambush.

One of Vila's aides said the general knew this afternoon that the attempt would be made and was averse to the knowledge reaching General Scott, as the rebels preferred to ambush the federals as they waded from the river.

A detachment of troops also was sent west to the smelter where there is an easy ford of the river.

Other detachments went to Washington Park, Clint and Fabens, all on the Ysleta road. Horses are said to have been waiting for the recruits since Sunday, hidden on the Mexican side in the Ysleta district. Saddles packed in barrels are believed to have been spirited across yesterday from a spot on the American side between Yslete and Socorro.

BANDIT AND HIS MEN EXECUTED BY REBELS

El Paso, Texas, February 11.—Maximo Castillo and six of his followers were captured and executed Monday near Chocolate Pass about 45 miles northeast of Pearson, Chihuahua, according to telegrams received today by General Francisco Villa in Juarez.

The messages were sent from Casas Grandes, he said, by rebel officers. A detachment of rebel cavalry under Major Juan Samaniego, surrounded Castillo's band near the Pass, it was reported, and captured seven of them, including Castillo.

NO SALUTE IS GIVEN TO HUERTA GUNBOAT

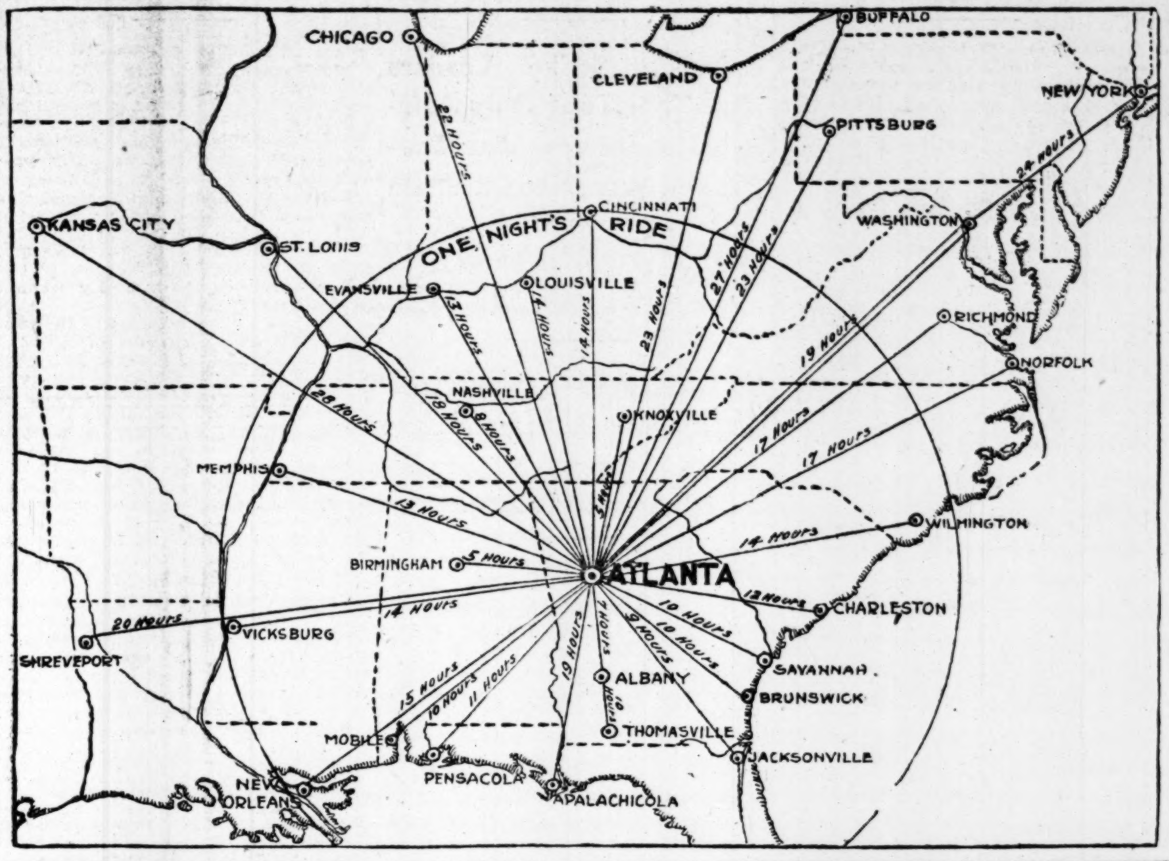
New Orleans, February 11.—When coming up the Mississippi river to this port today the Mexican gunboat Zaragosa saluted with twenty-one guns as she passed Jackson barracks. The salute was not answered by guns or by any other manner of recognition. As the vessel passed the United States immigration station the Mexican band played Mexican airs, but the serenade passed unnoticed by government officers there.

At Jackson barracks it was said officers had telegraphed to Washington for instructions as to what action if any they should take on the question of a warship of an unrecognized power being in this port. None was received up to the time the Zaragosa passed the barracks at 8 o'clock this morning.

Immigration authorities had not expected to inspect the Zaragosa on the ground that she was a foreign warship of a friendly power, but it was reported from quarantine that three aliens were aboard. Commissioner Redfern gave instructions for an inspector to meet the Zaragosa when she docked and to ascertain if any attempt was being made to bring aliens into this country unlawfully.

The three passengers aboard the Zaragosa, according to the immigration authorities, were Aurelina Melgarejo, Mexican minister plenipotentiary to Colombia; Louis Roumagnac, a French banker, and Antonio Magui, an Italian merchant. They told the immigration officers they were permitted by the Mexican government to make the trip from Vera Cruza on board the warship to assist them in reaching their destinations. They will leave tonight for New York, the minister later sailing from that port for London, and the latter two for Paris. None of them would make a statement to reporters.

Why Atlanta Should Have Regional Bank



CHARGES UNTRUE, STATE OFFICIALS

Crane Says He Will Present Evidence on Friday Against Policemen He Accuses.

City officials were obviously agitated Wednesday over the charges of police graft made the preceding night by Attorney Samuel C. Crane before the board of commissioners, in which he openely accused two turnkeys, also declaring that 10 per cent of the department was corrupt.

Prospects of sensational developments in the investigation to be promoted at the attorneys instigation were speculated upon widely and with much feeling. Crane, in a conference held at 11 o'clock in the morning, is said to have assured the especially appointed committee that he would prepare his evidence by the coming Friday.

It is the general belief that the call meeting to investigate his charges will be held either Friday or Saturday. The general feeling of the entire board is to hurry the investigation through and to either convict or exonerate as early as possible, thereby relieving the atmosphere of scandal generated by the lawyer's startling accusations.

Will Produce Prisoners.

Crane stated Wednesday to the committee, which is composed of Commissioners Vernoy, Johnson and Garner, that his evidence would be in the form of prisoners who have been held behind the bars of police headquarters, and of testimony from leading attorneys of the city who have encountered the alleged conditions charged by Crane. He expected to finish this preparatory work Friday, it is said.

"I will draw up the charges myself," Crane told the committee. "I will subpoena persons who have been locked up in police headquarters for a period covering the last fifteen months. Also members of the Atlanta bar. I will prove my charges or make some Atlanta lawyers perjure themselves."

The conference was held in Commissioner Vernoy's office. A stenographic record of all conversation was taken down by Gay C. Febuary, of Chief Lanford's staff.

Charges Vigorously Denied.

Tom Bayne and Dolph Brennan, the accused turnkeys, vigorously denied the lawyer's charges Wednesday. Brennan threatens suit for slander. Police officials upheld the records of both men, saying Crane's accusations were ridiculous and unfounded.

Chairman Carlos Mason, who is now confined in the Atlanta hospital from burns received two weeks ago, told a Constitution reporter Wednesday afternoon that he would take no action in the matter until his recovery. He would not express himself, he said, because of his unfamiliarity with the situation. The board, during Mr. Mason's absence, is being presided over by Vice Chairman Fain, who will call the special meeting.

Mayor Woodward expressed himself as being anxious to probe Crane's charges. He stated that, although he did not know whether or not the accused turnkeys were guilty, he knew men in that position at headquarters had an excellent opportunity to ally themselves with crooked attorneys and professional bondsmen.

He will take an active part in the investigation.

Estranged Two Years, Meet Again in Atlanta and Decide on Wedding

After an estrangement of two years, Miss Myrtle Powell and James M. Chapman met again a few days ago, and last night a quiet wedding was held in the rose parlor of the Winecoff hotel, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Those witnessing the ceremony were Mrs. E. P. Johnston, Miss Helen (Love) Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Giffen, Miss Louise Johnston, Burnett Ivey and E. T. Watson.

A large dinner was enjoyed by the wedding party immediately after the ceremony, which was served in the Winecoff cafe. On the Dixie Flyer last night the couple left for Florida to spend their honeymoon.

FLIRTING BANNED, ALSO SLIT SKIRTS, IN CITY OF ZION

Zion City, Ill., February 11.—An ordinance for the "promotion of public morals and the regulation of the conduct of citizens" was enacted by the city council today. The first section of the ordinance makes it unlawful to do any act, suggest any conduct or say any word that is profane, vulgar or immoral, or that has a tendency to offend public decency.

The second section is directed chiefly at flirting and makes it unlawful for any person in a loud or boisterous tone to ask any other to accompany him or her in a buggy, carriage, automobile or other vehicle, or for a walk.

Section three prohibits any operator of bicycle or motorcycle from taking any person of the opposite sex in his machine except on a side seat.

The ordinance also prohibits sleeves which expose a woman's arm above the middle of the fore arm and forbids slit skirts.

LABOR TO ENTER MAN IN LEGISLATIVE RACE

"Labor Legislative League" Organized to Secure Representation in the House.

It was announced at the meeting last night of the Atlanta Federation of Trades that several prominent labor men had met in executive session the night before and formulated plans for a "Labor Legislative league," for the purpose of entering a candidate in the next legislative race. One candidate will be put up and all their efforts will be concentrated on putting him in legislative office.

It is an effort on the part of the labor union men to get a labor man in the legislature in order that the labor cause will be represented by a labor union man, and not by men whom the labor unions have only indorsed, as heretofore.

It is desired that it be understood that it is not an attempt on the part of the labor unions to enter politics for the sake of mere politics. It is their only desire to have legislative representation for the purpose of securing the much needed labor legislation in the state on certain labor problems.

On Friday night of next week the league will meet and rules and by-laws governing the organization will be passed upon. It is safe to say that at this meeting the labor men will announce a candidate for the next legislature.

The league's policy will be to enter candidates only to fill legislative offices, only wishing to secure better legislation for labor problems, and not wishing to advance their individual members to executive and judicial offices for the sake of mere politics.

BACON'S PHYSICIANS SILENT AS TO ILLNESS

X-Ray Again Used on Senator. Kidney Specialist Is Called in Consultation.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 11.—(Special.) No statement has been made by Senator Bacon's attending physicians as to the result of the consultation held this morning, when additional X-ray photographs of his trunk were taken. Dr. Francis D. Hagner, a celebrated kidney specialist, was called into consultation with Dr. James Dudley Morgan and Dr. B. L. Hardin. They will have another conference tomorrow to analyze the X-ray photographs.

Mr. Bryan, secretary of state, is a daily inquirer as to Senator Bacon's condition. President Wilson expressed his deep regret today to Senator Hoke Smith over the continued illness of Mr. Bacon. Beautiful flowers continue to arrive to cheer the patient's sick room.

On returning from Garfield hospital tonight, John T. Boifeuillet reported that Senator Bacon's condition was unchanged, but that the indications were he would have a comparatively restful night. He said there was no indication of any critical or alarming condition.

HE KILLED DOCTOR AS HOME WRECKER

But Mrs. Jetton Says Husband's Charge Is False. Jetton Killed Dr. Wooten in Presence of Mrs. Jetton.

Charlotte, N. C., February 11.—A coroner's jury at the inquest held over the body of Dr. W. H. Wooten, of Davidson, this county, today returned a verdict that the deceased "came to his death from a pistol shot in the left breast, the pistol being in the hand of Monroe Jetton at the time."

Witnesses testified that they were attracted to the scene of the shooting by shouts of Jetton; that Jetton and his wife were standing on the porch; that Jetton stated that Wooten had ruined his home, and that he had shot him. They further testified that when Mrs. Jetton asked her husband not to say such a thing, protesting that she was innocent, that her husband replied:

"I will say it, because it is true."

Dr. J. W. McConnell, who attended the fatally wounded man, testified that Wooten declared his innocence, saying he was shot before he had a chance to explain, and that Mrs. Jetton was showing him a new dress.

It was brought out by the evidence that witnesses said Wooten repeatedly asserted that he was standing in the room in which he was killed, and that Mrs. Jetton was sitting in a chair showing him a new dress. When found by neighbors who came at Jetton's call, Dr. Wooten was lying across the bed, his raincoat on and buttoned.

Jetton was brought to Charlotte this morning, and on the advice of counsel has made no further statement. His counsel states tonight that application will be made under a writ of habeas corpus tomorrow for bail.

CHILDREN ON STREETS WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Federation Appoints Committee to Find Why Number Is Increasing.

The Atlanta Federation of Trades last night, at its semi-monthly meeting, passed resolutions to investigate the causes and reasons of the increasing number of small children plying trades on the streets of Atlanta. A committee consisting of J. L. Rodier, chairman, and Mrs. E. B. Smith, the two who introduced the resolution, was appointed to carry on the investigation and to make a report at the next meeting of the federation.

The resolution read as follows:

"Whereas, Atlanta is becoming daily larger, and as a consequenece street trades among children are becoming more numerous, and a vast increase in children on the streets plying these trades; and,

"Whereas, There is a marked increase of newsboys on the streets of Atlanta, both white and black; and,

"Whereas, These children are to be found on the streets selling their papers at late hours; be it

"Resolved, That the president of this Atlanta Federation of Trades appoint a special committee of three to investigate conditions under which children are plying trades in this city and report back to this body at their next meeting."

A committee was appointed to wait on women's clubs and ministerial associations to enlist their aid in securing proper child labor legislation. The last Sunday in May has been set aside as child labor Sunday, and the committee will try to secure the co-operation of the women's clubs and ministers in making child labor Sunday a big success.

J. B. Hewitt, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, presided over the meeting. Fully sixty men attended the session.

Registration of organized men was urged and reported that a committee was appointed to see that all unregistered labor men would be cited to court for non-payment of state and county taxes.

Goethals to Washington.

Panama, February 11.—Colonel George W. Goethals, recently appointed governor of the canal zone, will leave here tomorrow for Washington to consult with officials there with reference to the permanent organization of the canal government, which will become effective April 1.

CLAIMS OF ATLANTA FOR REGIONAL BANK URGED BY FARMERS

Capital of State Indorsed at Meeting of the Agricultural Society Executive Committee in Macon.

SEVEN CITIES WILL ASK BANK AT HEARING HERE

Atlanta's Plan of Campaign Now Perfected--Entertainment Planned in Honor of Distinguished Visitors.

Macon, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) The executive committee of the Georgia Agricultural society, at a meeting here this afternoon, unanimously indorsed Atlanta as a site for a reginol reserve bank and appointed a committee to urge the selection of the Gate City before the hearing to be held in Atlanta on Friday. This indorsement, the unanimous choice of members from every section of the state, is specially important when it is considered that this society is one of the most conservative and oldest organizations in Georgia.

The resolution follows:

Whereas, The new currency law recognizes the fundamental relation of agriculture to national finance, and makes special provision for financial aid to agricultural interests; and,

Whereas, these facts led to making the United States secretary of agriculture a member of the organization committee charged with inauguarating the new financial system;

Resolved, That the executive committee of the Georgia Agricultural society, in regular session, hereby approves of the agricultural features of the new currency law; and,

Resolved, That we hereby approve the application, and urge the selection of Atlanta as the location for a regional reserve bank for the southeastern states.

The committee that will present Atlanta's claims before the regional bank organization committee which arrives Friday got down to hard work Wednesday afternoon.

Each man knew just what he had to do. Some days ago subjects for discussion had been assigned to every member of the committee and at Wednesday's meeting at the chamber of commerce briefs on these subjects were read and discussed.

The various topics cover every phase of the subject of Atlanta's fitness for the regional bank, and the whole forms a powerful argument for its location in this city.

At Wednesday's meeting J. K. Orr spoke of Atlanta's general fitness for the bank; Wilmer L. Moore presented the chamber of commerce brief, which is a very comprehensive argument; R. F. Maddox discussed the operation of regional banking in the southeast; A. P. Coles read a paper on foreign exchange; Joseph A. McCord spoke on the financing of the cotton crop; J. K. Ottley's brief, "The Trend of Banking in the Southeast," was read by Secretary Walter G. Cooper, Mr. Ottley being absent from the city; Clyde King spoke on agricultural implements; R. S. Wessels on manufacturers' agents; Mell R. Wilkinson on cotton seed products and commercial fertilizers; Milton Dargan on fire insurance; R. J. Guinn on life insurance, and Oscar Elsas' brief on manufacturing was read in his absence.

Time Element Important.

The papers were gone over and discussed so that they could be made to conform to the time at the disposal of the committee. Some were cut, others were amplified. Suggestions and counter-suggestions were made and when the committee got through a definite plan of campaign had been outlined.

The members of the local committee were elated at the splendid showing made at Wednesday's meeting and feel more than over-confident of the success of the campaign.

At the Atlanta hearing the claims of the following cities will be heard: Atlanta, Jacksonville, Chattanooga, Birmingham, Savannah and Columbia.

Mr. Williams is said to strongly favor Birmingham and every effort will be made to turn his thoughts toward the advantages offered by Atlanta.

Additional Indorsements.

Many additional indorsements of Atlanta were received from different

Hearing in New Orleans.

New Orleans, February 11.—The federal reserve bank organization committee composed of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Secretary of Agriculture Houston today heard claims of bankers and commercial representatives of Louisville and New Orleans why their respective cities should have a federal reserve bank. A large delegation of Memphis bankers heard the arguments and tomorrow will present their claims for a bank at Memphis, after which the committee will go to Atlanta for a hearing.

The New Orleans men presented their argument first and Sol Wexeler, president of the Whitney Central National bank, who made the principal argument, maintained that a regional bank should be located here and should include the business of territory embraced in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and a part of Tennessee. New Orleans, however, was willing to eliminate that part of Texas lying west of Austin or the state of Georgia.

The Louisville principal argument was advanced by John W. Barr, Jr., in which he submitted statistics to show that a bank should be established in Louisville and include all the territory claimed by New Orleans excepting Texas, Louisiana, a part of Mississippi, a part of Tennessee and include the southern portion of Indiana. Tomorrow Memphis will claim a bank located there, taking in Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, the eastern half of Texas and Oklahoma, Arkansas and strips of the southern parts of Missouri and Kentucky.

Secretary McAdoo indicated in his comment and questioning of witnesses that taking the United States as a whole and aiming at a strong federal reserve system the matter of where banks would be located was secondary to defining each regional district. Practically every witness was asked whether he preferred eight or twelve regional banks and sentiment seemed to be about equally divided.

Moose Men Go Alone.

Lincon, Neb., February 11.—That amalgamation with the republican party would not be considered by Nebraska progressives who met here today, was decided after brief talks by Medill McCormick, national progressive committeeman from Illinois, former Senator Albert J. Beveridge and W. E. Cadmus, Illinois, national organizer for the party.

UNDERWOOD DEFENDS ALASKAN RAIL MEASURE

Democratic Leader Denies That Bill Contains Germ of Socialism.

Washington, February 11.—Final action on the Alaska railroad bill next Wednesday was in prospect tonight, after the house had given a day to detailed consideration of the measure as passed by the senate.

But one amendment was written into the bill during the discussion. This would leave to the discretion of the president the problem of handling the proposed railway after the government has built it. It was introduced by Representative Mann, of Illinois, and would allow the president either to lease the railroad to private operators or to operate it for the government.

Mr. Mann pointed out that the president might be confronted by a situation in which the only available lessees would be "the Guggenheim interests or other interests heavily interested in Alaska," and that in such a case he ought to be able to decline to lease.

Several members, both democrats and republicans, attacked the bill as "socialistic," in the course of the debate, and one time Majority Leader Underwood took the floor to reply to their assertions.

Not Socialistic, Says Underwood.

"The suggestion that this bill contains the germ of socialism," he said, "takes me back twelve years to the time when we were debating the first irrigation bill in this house. The same cry was raised then, but no one will today contend that the government's irrigation policy has been a failure."

Representative Underwood declared governmental action was necessary to make Alaska "an asset instead of a liability."

Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, predicted that if the measure passed members of the house would live to see the time when the government would be mining gold in Alaska, manufacturing clothes in Dayton and food in Milwaukee.

Mr. Hardwick declared he would vote against "so radical a government ownership proposition as the Alaska bill."

Attacked By Democrats.

Democratic Leader Underwood was forced to defend the bill against a general attack from the democratic side. Representatives Burnett, of Alabama; Henley, of Missouri; Calloway, of Texas, and Hardwick, of Georgia, led the assault.

Under a fire of questions, Representative Underwood declared he would not favor government construction of railroads in continental United States, because it was not necessary. He declared that the governmental action was necessary in order to make Alaska "an asset instead of a liability."

STOCK WAS WORTHLESS, SAYS PRADE IN SUIT

Suit was filed Wednesday by Julian Prade to recover the sum of $1,250 which Prade asserts he lost through misleading representations made by E. C. Lyle, president of the Milledgeville Hardware company. Prade asserts that he was persuaded to buy ten shares of stock in the concern on Lyle's word that the stock was worth $125 per share. The transaction took place in 1912.

A year later, so Prade asserts, Lyle came to him and stated that one of the officers had defaulted with about $6,000 of the firm's funds, and that they were on the verge of ruin.

Soon after, so Prade asserts, Lyle filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. Prade asserts that the stock sold him was never worth anything.

THEY BOUGHT GUNS WHEN THE SHERIFF TURNED THEM DOWN

Colorado Strike Leaders Say That They Only Armed Themselves After Protection Was Refused Them

LABOR WITNESSES SHY OF THE GUN BUSINESS

They Seemed to Fear Their Statements Before the Congress Probers Might Be Used Against Them.

Denver, Colo., February 11.—"I told Sheriff Grisham, of Las Animas county, that we didn't want any of his kind of protection; that we'd make up our minds to protect ourselves. And we did it."

This was the statement of John R. Lawson, leader of the Colorado miners in their strike, on cross-examination late today before the house investigation committee. He was describing stormy events in the southern coal camps before the arrival of state troops. The labor leader had told of instances in which he claimed he had asked the sheriff for protection for the strikers' tent colonies, but in vain. Finally, he said, after one of the battles between mine guards and strikers, protection was offered, but scornfully rejected.

Lawson told of ordering tents from West Virginia and of buying bedding, clothing and fuel.

They Bought Guns.

"Did you buy any guns?" asked Judge Jesse G. Northcutt, of counsel for the operators.

"Not at that time. Some guns were bought later to protect lives and property."

Then the labor leader appealed to the committee.

"A grand jury is in session in Las Animas county, gentlemen," he said. "This grand jury seems very desirous of indicting us. For this reason, unless the committee insists, I'd rather not go very far into this gun business. I will say that there were some guns bought, but not until after the operators had imported machine guns."

Chairman Foster was not ready to drop the inquiry into the purchase of arms.

"The witness can refuse to answer any question that might incriminate him," he ruled, "but the committee wants the facts."

"When did you buy the first guns?" persisted Judge Northcutt.

"Not until after the second battle of Ludlow."

Eleven Guns, One Popgun.

The labor chief, questioned regarding the disarmament of the Ludlow tent colony, said he collected eleven guns and one popgun for the state troops.

"Your organization is defending ten men now in jail on charges of murdering four guards near La Veta, isn't it?" asked Judge Northcutt.

"Yes."

"You think those people, guilty or innocent, are entitled to the protection of your organization?"

"You ought to be able to answer that question for me, judge," replied the witness, smiling. "Yes, I think every man is entitled to protection."

The rock of conflict between federal and state authority loomed large ahead of the committee at one time. C. H. Newell, a Denver newspaper editor, called to the stand by the miners, made it clear that he was ready to testify regarding conversations he had had with Governor Ammons, with a view to showing the governor's alleged attitude toward Mother Jones. Counsel for the operators entered a protest against the testimony in the absence of the governor. An executive conference was held and Chairman Foster announced that the witness would be put on the stand again and that the governor would be notified so that he might be present if he so desired.

BARELY ABLE TO LIVE ON COPPER MINE WAGES

Hancock, Mich., February 11.—Sixteen striking copper mine workers testified today before the congressional investigators that they were compelled to toil under dangerous and insanitary conditions for wages that barely enabled them to exist. The contract system of pay was condemned.

The committee decided to go to Calumet to investigate the Italian hall disaster on Christmas Eve, as relating to the deportation of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners' two nights later. There is difference of opinion among committee members as to the scope the inquiry on this subject should take. O. N. Hilton, senior counsel for the federation, today asked the committee for a full inquiry, as necessary to establish his charge that Moyer's constitutional rights were invaded.

Hilton made the direct charge that the panic was caused by a man who wore a "Citizen's Alliance" button appearing in the doorway of the hall, shouting "fire."

More and More Work.

Daniel Waahti, who said he had worked in the Calumet and Hecla mines for twenty-six years, testified that working conditions had become worse in every way during the last five years.

"I wish you would specify how conditions have become worse," Chairman Taylor requested.

"The men have been required to do more and more work," the witness replied; "and if a man was unable to do the work, he received treatment unfit for one man to receive from another. When men complain they get harsher treatment than those who keep silent."

Waahti declared that he once was injured by a falling rock and was given no medical attention until he reached the hospital. He said there was no "first aid to the injured" in the mines.

Committee members asked several witnesses if there were mine rescue stations near the mines and when they replied in the negative, A. E. Petermann, of counsel for the companies, told the committee they would be given an opportunity to inspect the rescue station maintained by the Calumet and Hecla.

Conditions Became Worse.

Daniel Tovinin testified that the air was bad in a Calumet and Hecla mine. He said his average monthly wages just before the strike were from $64 to $71; five years ago he received from $85 to $90, he said. Conditions had become worse, otherwise he stated.

Ed Heinonen said the lowest wage he had received for his work as a miner was $16 for sixteen days' work and that he had worked hard for 10 hours every day. He said the best pay he had received was $100, but that his monthly average for sixteen months would be about $45 or $50.

Olli Raatikka said he once had received $12 for his month's work under contract system in Wolverine mine. He admitted that one month he had made $160 but said the average would be very low.

GEORGIA CONVICT LABOR TO BE COUNTED AS CASH

In Figuring Amount Due State Under Shackleford Measure. Bill to Be Amended.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 11.—(Special.)—The Shackleford $25,000,000 good roads bill, which has passed the house, will now go to the senate committee on postoffices and post roads for consideration, and its early passage is expected.

Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, who introduced this compromise good roads measure in the senate at the time Representative Shackleford introduced it in the house, is a member of the subcommittee on the bill. He predicts speedy action.

"The bill will be referred to the subcommittee on post roads, of which I am a member," said Senator Smith tonight, "and will be taken up and pressed actively. I do not anticipate any very vigorous opposition.

"The bill will be amended to make it clear that Georgia's convict labor shall be considered the equivalent of a cash contribution from the state in figuring on the amount Georgia will receive from the federal government. The measure should not interfere with the use of convicts for road work."

Bill Attacked by D. A. R.

Kansas City, Mo., February 11.—The national old trails committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution met here today, denounced the Shackleford good roads bill as a "pork barrel" measure and decided to appeal to the 100,000 members of the Daughters of the American Revolution throughout the country to telegraph their senators to vote against the bill. A petition also was drawn up to be sent to President Wilson.

The committee objects to the placing of federal funds in the hands of governors, who will distribute the money through minor officials.

ARBITRATION TREATIES FAVORABLY REPORTED

Eight Pacts to Be Taken Up by the Senate on February 19.

Washington, February 11.—General arbitration treaties with Great Britain, Japan, Italy, Spain, Norway, Sweden, Portugal and Switzerland, which have expired and are awaiting ratification for extension, are to be taken up for consideration by the senate February 19. This course was determined upon today by the foreign relations committee, which favorably reported the treaties recently after a conference with President Wilson in the nation's foreign policy.

Opposition to extension of the treaties is certain to develop, but administration leaders see a clearing up of the foreign relations of the country, and believe that the conventions will be favorably acted upon after the general debate. That the opposition is not as formidable as it was last summer when action on the treaties was held up, already is apparent. One reason for that is the desire of the president for the repeal of the section of the Panama canal act exempting American coastwise shipping from toll charges. It was because of fear that this question would be forced into arbitration at The Hague to determine whether it violated the Hay-Paunce-fote treaty that consideration of the general arbitration treaty with Great Britain was blocked last summer. Consequently other treaties also were held up in order that there might appear to be no discrimination.

With opposition to the British treaty on account of tolls disappearing, there is left only the opposition argument against the general policy of arbitration. This view is held by several republican and democratic senators. Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, republican members of the foreign relations committee, is unalterably opposed to all such treaties.

General clearing up of the Asiatic question by its elimination from pending immigration legislation removes many objections to the treaty with Japan. It is regarded as certain if the British and Japanese treaties are approved for extension, the similar conventions with other nations will be ratified without difficulty.

The committee decided to postpone taking up the treaties for another week on account of the illness of Senator Bacon, of Georgia, chairman, and Senator Stone, of Missouri.

BRYAN FAVORS SPENDING IN THE CAUSE OF PEACE

Washington, February 11.—Secretary Bryan indorsed governmental expenditures in the cause of peace before the house foreign affairs committee today when Representative Smith, of New York, asked him to state his position on the bill to appropriate $150,000 for a celebration of the centennial of Anglo-American harmony.

"I am not only in favor of celebrating," said the secretary, "but I am in favor of celebrating liberally.

"We have so far spent the minimum in matters of peace and the maximum for wars that never come," said Mr. Bryan. "Anything that will focus public opinion on peace and its advantages, from a pecuniary standpoint, I would consider money well spent."

UNION NOT RECOGNIZED, BUT WAGES INCREASED

Indianapolis, Ind., February 11.—An increase of wages was granted, but the Street Car's Men's union was not recognized in the decision given today by the state public utilities commission in the controversy between the local street car company and its employees. The decision is binding for three years.

RULES TO BE OBSERVED BY INCOME TAX PAYERS

Treasury Officials Issue Booklet to Clear Up Misunderstanding About Law.

Washington, February 11.—After weeks of study of the complexities of the income tax law, treasury officials today issued a ninety-page booklet, christened it "Regulations No. 33," and sent it forth to collectors of internal revenue in the expectation that it will clear up many of the misunderstandings concerning the law which have arisen throughout the country.

It takes twenty-three pages of the book to set forth the law itself, but sixty pages are used in telling how the net income to be taxed is ascertained by the taxpayer, when and where tax must be paid, what penalties will be imposed for non-payment, what exemptions and deductions will be allowed. Many pages are devoted to an explanation of that part of the law imposing a 1 per cent tax on the income of all corporations, which replaces the old corporation tax.

Although officials are confident that this booklet will prove a guide to taxpayers which will settle many apparently difficult problems, there will be other regulations in the future when new points are raised. The book does not contain a new set of regulations, but is a compilation in compact form of the ones already issued, with explanations of points never before discussed.

As to Partnerships.

Under the law, partnerships are not subject to the tax, but the regulations provide that annual profits from a partnership paid to members shall be included in their returns, and where such profits are undistributed and unpaid they must be ascertained and included in the individuals return for taxation just the same.

It is made clear for the first time that persons who have a net income of less than $20,000, all derived from investments upon which the tax has been withheld at the source, shall not be required to make any return. Executors and administrators of estates of persons are required to pay the tax on the net income for the part of the year in which the deceased was alive.

Where persons taxable refuse to make the proper list or return or makes false return, the regulations provide that the proper collector of internal revenue shall, after due notice, make the return for such person and the tax shall be assessed on this return, with a 50 or 100 per cent penalty added. Returns must be verified by oaths or affirmation. Returns shall be sent by collectors to the commissioner of internal revenue in Washington by registered mail. Taxes unpaid after June 30 shall bring a penalty of 5 per cent, after ten days' notice and demand by the proper collector, and interest at the rate of 1 per cent a month from the date due. Returns shall be made to collectors before March 1, every year.

The Corporation Feature.

In dealing with the corporation feature, it is explained that all returns shall be public records subject to inspection on order of the president of the United States, under rules prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. Copies of returns cannot be sent to any person except the corporations or its attorney, but on request of a governor, officers of a state which imposes a general income tax, may have access to returns by corporations doing business in that state. United States district attorneys may, under certain restrictions, have access to the returns. Disclosure by any collector or other employee of the United States of any information whatever set forth in any return of annual net income, is made a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $1,000 and one year's imprisonment, and if the person found guilty is a United States employee he will be dismissed and thereafter be incapable of ever holding office under the government.

MURPHY WANTS TO AID IN "UPLIFTING" PARTY

New York, February 11.—Tammany Hall will not oppose the efforts of Governor Glynn and President Wilson to reorganize the democratic party in New York state. Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, said so today although he did not admit that the party needed reorganization.

A few days ago Mr. Murphy defied his enemies to oust him from the Tammany leadership. On the state situation his attitude today was conciliatory.

"I'll be very glad," he said, "to aid in any effort to uplift the party—if 'uplift' is the word—if it needs reorganization."

Mr. Murphy added that he wouldn't oppose the plans of Governor Glynn to reorganize the state committee. Tammany men said today that the governor's declaration of his relief in "local autonomy" led them to believe that the governor would not attack Murphy in his own county unless his activity in state affairs forced them.

Mr. Murphy today insisted that he was not and had not been state leader. Mr. Murphy asserted that he had no candidate in mind to succeed Elihu Root as United States senator. He had not heard, he said, that William F. McCombs was a candidate.

ATLANTA MAY SHIVER BEFORE NIGHT TODAY

By noon today the city may again be a-shiver. This is the unpleasant information given out by the weather bureau late Wednesday. There is a cold snap coming toward Atlanta. The city may be struck or it may not. The chances are that the community will feel the cold period, however.

A below freezing temperature is on the books for Atlanta and the cold snap may last for several days, unless all signs fail.

EVELYN THAW'S DANCE DECLARED NOT IMPROPER

She Is Arrested at Richmond, But Case Is Dismissed at the Hearing.

Richmond, Va., February 11.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, whose appearance at a local theater was forbidden by Mayor Ainslie on complaint of the Ministerial union, was arrested this afternoon at the conclusion of her dance, on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Werner. The charge was made in the warrant that she "did unlawfully, but not feloniously, appear at a theater in a public performance, thereby outraging public decency and to the detriment of public morals at and to the great damage and common nuisance of all the citizens of the commonwealth."

Mrs. Thaw was bailed by counsel, and the case sent immediately to police court, where it was dismissed after a two-hour hearing. She was not required to attend. Witnesses testified that there was nothing improper in the performance, an effort to suppress which was made on the ground of the notoriety which Mrs. Thaw received in the murder for which her husband, Harry K. Thaw, was tried for his life.

Mayor Ainslie admitted on the stand that there was no state law, as he saw it, by which she could be denied the right to take part in any play, not objectionable in itself, and that his order to the police to arrest her was issued on advice of the city attorney.

You Can Easily Drive Rheumatism Away.

overcome rheumatism is our own well-known Georgia medicine, the famous blood purifier, S. S. S. Its action is quite remarkable. Whatever may be your theory as to the cause of rheumatism or kind of rheumatism, just remember this: S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

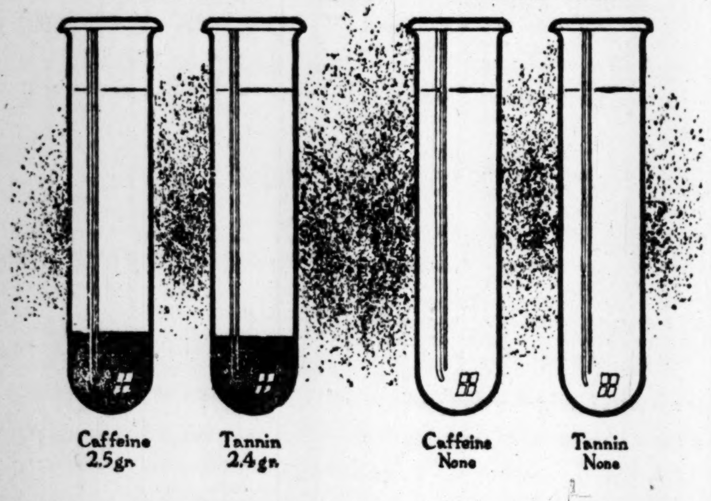
Coffee vs. Postum



Caffeine 2.5gr.
Tannin 2.4gr.
Caffeine None
Tannin None

Any analytical chemist can prove by analysis, that coffee contains two harmful drugs—

Caffeine—an alkaloid that irritates the heart, liver and kidneys, and upsets the nerves.

Tannin—a drug which produces an astringent action upon the tissues of the stomach and bowels.

But the greatest test of all is made in thousands of homes where it is daily proven by personal experience that headaches, biliousness, indigestion, heart irritation and nervousness are very often caused by coffee drinking.

An ordinary cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, and 2 2-5 grains of tannin.

Some coffee concerns have tried in various ways—without much success—to rid coffee of its caffeine, because they know its harmful effects. Now they are agitated because people are objecting to the presence of tannin in coffee—the same element (but obtained from bark) that is used to tan leather.

The simple, easy way out of coffee troubles is to quit this harmful beverage and use the pure food-drink

POSTUM

It is absolutely free from these drugs or any harmful substance. Made only from prime wheat (roasted) and a small percent of molasses. Postum contains the rich, nutritious values of the grain—is a genuine food-drink.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder. A teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water, with cream and sugar, makes a delightful beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

RENTZ BANKER AGAIN PUT IN DUBLIN JAIL

Forced to Return After His Father's Funeral, When Bail Is Refused.

Macon, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) W. O. Armstrong, charged with embezzlement of funds of the Bank of Rentz, was taken to Dublin this morning by a deputy sheriff and lodged in jail, to be held until his trial. Young Armstrong was permitted to come to Macon to attend the funeral of his father, G. F. Armstrong, who committed suicide at Hazlehurst when he learned that a warrant had been issued for his arrest charging embezzlement, and who was buried at a local cemetery yesterday.

When W. O. Armstrong learned of his father's death he was given his release from jail at Dublin and permitted to go to his home at Hazlehurst. While in Hazlehurst he arranged to give bond for his later appearance in Dublin, but when the bond was transferred to the sheriff at Dublin he declined to accept it, and wired to Macon to have young Armstrong arrested and brought there immediately after the funeral of his father.

Presents $1,800 Smallpox Bill.

Macon, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) The city of Macon may have to pay Dr. O. C. Gibson, former city physician and present county physician, $1,800 for a single month's treatment of smallpox, because of the refusal of the mayor and council to continue with him the arrangement of paying $100 a month for this service.

When the new council came into office the first of the year, Dr. Gibson resigned as city physician, but temporary arrangements were made with him to handle the city smallpox cases at the county pesthouse, though nothing was said about the pay he was to receive.

Last night Dr. Gibson presented a bill for $1,800 for services rendered during the month of January in treating city patients at the pesthouse. The bill called for a $10 a day for each patient treated, or an average of $60 a day. Members of council were indignant and refused to pay the bill, but Dr. Gibson says it is his intention to collect it, even if he has to go to court.

He says he is only charging the regular fee allowed by the Macon Medical society.

To Head Masonic Home.

Macon, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) W. L. Collier, of Rome, one of Georgia's best known Masons, has been appointed superintendent of the Masonic home in this city, succeeding Dr. John B. Roberts, who recently tendered his resignation to take up other work in Atlanta.

Mrs. Millie L. Collier, wife of the new superintendent, has been named superintendent of the girls' department.

Mr. Collier was senior warden of the Cherokee lodge at Rome, and was also a deputy sheriff there for a number of years, and is highly esteemed.

R. L. Colding, grand master, came to Macon from Savannah to superintend the change in officers.

EXTENSION WORK DONE BY G. N. & I. COLLEGE

Milledgeville, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—During the month of January a number of lectures were given by the members of the faculty of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college in different parts of the state.

A cooking school was held at Albany and another at Quitman, under the direction of Miss Murphy, principal of the domestic science department. Interesting and instructive lectures were made at these places, also at Jackson, by Miss Murphy, assisted by Miss Moore. President Parks delivered a lecture at Millen. Dr. Vittum, principal of English, lectured at Sandersville, and Misses Able and Hasslock, of the dressmaking department, at Albany.

While there is no direct fund at the Georgia Norman and Industrial college for giving the teachers' time outside of the school, President Parks is much interested in this extension work over the state, and arranges as best he can to conduct it during the year.

CAPT. J. A. ALEXANDER DIES AT DAWSON HOME

Dawson, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) At his home here this afternoon Captain Jacob M. Alexander, a well-known and highly esteemed citizen, died, aged 75. He was partially paralyzed several years ago, gradually growing feebler till the end came peacefully today.

A brave Confederate soldier, he served throughout the civil war, first as lieutenant and subsequently as captain of Company F, Pitts regiment. He was for eight years postmaster of Dawson, first appointed by President Harrison, in 1890, and again in 1898 by President McKinley.

His wife and seven children survive him. His daughters are Mrs. C. B. Daniels, of Athens.; Mrs. Jonathan Williams, and Mrs. Sallie A. Crouch, of Dawson, and Mrs. E. V. Stockton, of Fort Lauderdalo, Fla.; his sons, William L. Alexander, Dawson; George R. Alexander, Jacksonville, Fla., and James M. Alexander, Dougherty county, Georgia.

COLUMBUS MERCHANT IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Columbus, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—In Muscogee superior court today, Judge Matthews, of Macon, presiding for Judge Gilbert, directed a verdict of not guilty in the case of Leo Loewenherz, a prominent merchant, who was charged with having made conflicting statements under oath relative to an alleged shortage of H M. Mooty, his bookkeeper. On motion of Solicitor Palmer a similar verdict of not guilty was then returned in Mr. Mooty's case. Mr. Loewenherz, in an extended statement, said that he had at first supposed his bookkeeper was short in his accounts, but that upon investigation all apparent discrepancies were explained, and that while Mr. Mooty had been careless in his bookkeeping, yet there was no shortage.

IF BLADDER OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Try the Favorite Recipe of Old Folks—Buchu and Juniper.

Everyone knows that Buchu and Juniper properly compounded is the best medicine for weak kidneys or bladder. When the urine becomes cloudy, the bladder irritated; when you have an unusual flow of urine, scalding, dribbling, straining or too frequent passage from the bladder—your head and back aches—your ankles or eyelids are swollen, spots before the eyes, leg cramps, shortness of breath, sleeplessness and despondency, dizzy spells, and if weather is bad you have rheumatism, try the following: Get from any reliable druggist a 14-oz. bottle of Stuart's Buchu and Juniper Compound. Take a spoonful after meals. Drink plenty of water. Drop the use of sugar and sweets. In a day or so your kidneys will act fine and natural. Stuart's Buchu mixed with Juniper has been used for years to clean out impurities from the kidneys and bladder, also to neutralize the uric acids in the blood and urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending all kidney and bladder weakness and curing Diabetes. Woman Killed By Amerson Was Divorced, Says Bigbie

Former Husband of Tragedy Victim Says He Had Made Several Attempts to Secure His Child.

ROY BIGBIE.

The curtain of mystery concealing the past of Mrs. A. J. Amerson, the second, who was shot down and killed by her affinity, A. J. Amerson, who afterwards slew himself, has been drawn aside by a letter received by The Constitution from Roy Bigbie, first husband of the "woman in the case."

Bigbie makes two statements of interest to the public. He claims to have secured a divorce from his wife in 1911 and says he understands that she married Amerson in 1913, and he claims for his own the 7-year-old child, Louise.

"I have known Amerson since 1908," he writes. "He was roadmaster on the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad and I worked for him as section foreman during the year 1909 at Edison, Ga. In the year 1910 he was transferred from the roadway service to train service and was made passenger train conductor on the same road.

"During the same year I was transferred from Edison to Damascus, where my wife and I separated. Later, my wife went to Columbus, and I was told that in March, 1913, she was married to Amerison. I sued her for divorce in 1911 and obtained same.

"I never knew much of her and my child's whereabouts until last Saturday, although I made several attempts to secure the child, but could never get up with her.

"I was told that my wife and Mr. Amerson lived at Meridian and Laurel, Miss., and also York, Ala., since they were married.

"This girl and I were married February 14, 1905, and our little daughter was born May 28, 1906, at Bluffton, Ga.

"Since the separation, while my wife was living in Columbus, I sent my little daughter a post card picture bearing the inscription, 'From Papa to Louise,' but never knew whether she got it or not.

"When I heard of the tragedy last Saturday I was badly shocked for fear the man had killed my child, but have learned since that the child had been sent to Alaga, Ala., to her aunt."

Marriage is only another form of speculation in which women participate on equal terms with men.

GRIFFIN IS SURVEYED FOR 2 TROLLEY LINES

Not Improbable That Cars Will Be Running by Time of Fair.

Griffin, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) Surveys have just been made for the construction of two street railway lines in Griffin. Capitalists of the east have become interested in the matter, and declare that street railways in this city would pay a good dividend from the start. Believing this they have authorized the surveys and making of maps and plans for routing the lines.

The proposed lines will connect with Griffin the town of Experiment, a suburb 2 miles west of the city, which has a large population. The line running in that direction will also pass the Kincaid, Rushton, Georgia and Griffin cotton mills, connecting them with the passenger station and the business section of the town. The second line surveyed is to run westward from the heart of the business section, connecting the city hall, the courthouse, all the western portion of the city, as well as touching the communities of the Spalding, Cherokee and Georgia cotton mills No. 2.

The Griffin Board of Trade, at the suggestion of eastern capitalists have had all maps made, routes surveyed, measurements taken, estimates of expense of construction made, cost of operation and all other expenses calculated. The work towards the actual consummation of the street lines is progressing as rapidly as possible, and it is not improbable that the cars will be in actual operation by the time the county fair opens this fall.

That Griffin has reached a point when better and cheaper transportation facilities to the suburbs are necessary is a question that can have but one answer.

In the jump his leg was broken, and he was bruised in several other places. The negro fireman also jumped and was slightly hurt. None of the passengers on the train were injured in any way.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

BILLS OF INDICTMENTS DRAWN AGAINST CLUBS

If Found Guilty, Clubs Will Be Fined, and Not the Managers.

As forecasted in The Constitution, bills of indictment against every club within the limits of Fulton county have been drawn up and will be considered Friday by the grand jury at its regular session.

The clubs named in the bills, which, of course, have not as yet become legal indictments are:

Capital City club, Piedmont Driving club, University. Atlanta Athletic, Atlanta, Terrace, Theatrical and Mechanical, Transportation, Merchants and Manufacturers', Metropolitan, Owls', Eagles, Elks', Moose, Beavers', Standard and Central.

The bills to be considered are the outcome of what is rumored to have been a request on the part of the club managers themselves looking toward a probing of the question of whether or not the clubs are violating the law.

The question which will be most thoroughly gone over by the grand jury on Friday is whether or not the club managers are violating the law in selling drinks by the coupon method—in vogue at several of the better clubs in the city.

The indictments, if any are finally signed, will be directed against the clubs as corporations instead of the managers or directors. In case any of the clubs are found guilty of prohibitian law violation they will be fined as corporations. This eliminates the chance of chaingang sentences or heavy fines being imposed on the club managers or directors.

Solicitor General Dorsey repeatedly refused to discuss the bills already drawn against the various clubs when questioned on Wednesday. He declared that the grand jury would take up the matter at the proper time.

The grand jury probe is the direct result of an investigation ordered when the present grand jury was sworn in. At that time Judge Ben Hill, whose duty it is to charge each grand jury, stressed the matter of making a thorough probe into locker club conditions in the county.

Randolph Rose in City Planning to Advertise His Big Cigar Factory

Randolph Rose, who, for many years, was one of Atlanta's best known business men and who has never lost his allegiance to this city, is now in the city planning a spectacular advertising campaign in the interest of his large cigar factory, which is located at Tampa, Fla.

Anyone who is at all well acquainted with the advertising methods of Mr. Rose—his enthusiasm and his faith in anything he undertakes—does not need to be told that the campaign will be an interesting and convincing one. Mr. Rose is manufacturing the Armour brand of cigars, which already has attained a wide popularity.

He has appointed Billy Sands, well-known to everyone in Atlanta, as his special agent in this territory. Mr. Sands is known to every baseball enthusiast in the south and to the patrons of the theater as well. He was a member of the first Atlanta baseball team and has, for years, been connected with the local theaters. He will devote practically all his time to boosting the Armour brand of cigars.

Living-at-Home Doctrine Is Urged By W. A. Burpee

W. A. BURPEE.

W. Atlee Burpee, of Philadelphia, head of the big seed house of that name, and a figure of national importance, was a visitor in Atlanta yesterday with Mrs. Burpee.

Mr. Burpee is en route to Augusta, where he and Mrs. Burpee expect to spend several weeks.

The name of Burpee is synonymous with the integrity, intelligence and enterprise that mean so much in the industry closely allied to agriculture. Not a year passes but the house of Burpee makes some original contribution to horticulture. Burpee is a born trail blazer. Sweet peas and new varieties of them is one of his fads.

The big and little farmer, the city man with a "bug" for the kitchen garden and the truck grower and florist are friends of this quiet-spoken, unassuming millionaire who loves to talk of his sons, of his flowers, of his collies, of everything but what he personally may have accomplished in building a big fortune and a big business.

"The people of Georgia," said Mr. Burpee, "as well as the people of every American state need to learn the doctrine of 'living at home.'

"That is to say, the farmer must in the future raise on his own acres the food for himself and his cattle.

"This is one means of lowering the cost of living. And the town and the state that keeps money at home is the town and state that is making a strong bid for permanent prosperity, the sort that is proof against the fluctuations of finance."

Body of Girl Jolly Killed Found By Dream of Sister

Mrs. C. L. Powell, 76 years old, who lives at No. 110 Luckie street, is one of the few persons alive today who are intimately acquainted with the details of the murder of pretty Victoria Norris, in DeKalb county, more than thirty-four years ago and for which James Jolly was convicted in 1880.

Despite the years that have elapsed since the discovery of the murder, Mrs. Powell can recall almost every detail. When she read in The Constitution that Jolly was seeking a pardon she told of some incidents which have never appeared in print.

According to Mrs. Powell, the body of Victoria Norris would have been hidden forever had it not been for a dream of the murdered girl's sister.

"For several nights she dreamed that Victoria was buried in a certain spot, and finally she told the authorities and led them to the place she saw in her dream," Mrs. Powell said. "And, sure enough, they found the girl buried there."

Mrs. Powell says that it was Tom J. Willingham, a cotton man of Stone Mountain, who arrested Jolly in Mississippi and brought him to Atlanta for safe-keeping. Mrs. Powell says that the feeling against the prisoner was intense after it had become known that he confessed to Willingham.

"I remember that a collection was taken up with which to erect a monument to the dead girl," Mrs. Powell continued. "Mr. Willingham, as I remember, had a lot of pictures of the girl printed and they were sold for 25 cents each. I don't know how much was collected, but I do know that money came from all over the south."

Mrs. Powell stated that, despite her acquaintance with the dead girl, she has no bitterness against the aged convict who is seeking a pardon at the hands of Governor Slaton.

Turn the Baby's Tears to Laughter

A Gentle Baby Laxative Will Quickly Relieve the Usual Cause of the Trouble.

WALTER J. KIRCH

It is often difficult to tell just what is the matter with a crying, peevish baby or child too young to express its feelings in words, but as a general rule the mother will find that there is a tendency to constipation, which has brought on a headache or nervousness. The little one has no pain, but feels "out of sorts."

The first thing to try is a family remedy containing good but mild laxative properties, and many mothers will say that their choice would be Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers keep it in the house for such emergencies, among whom may be mentioned Mrs. John Kirch, Jr., 1527 Abstract Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa. She has been giving it successfully to little Walter, whose picture we present at three months, when he weighed 14½ pounds. He is a healthy, laughing youngster today and Mrs. Kirch gladly gives Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin credit. It saves many an illness and many a large doctor bill, for by administering it promptly when the first symptoms of illness are noticed it prevents a serious ailment.

It is so pleasant-tasting that no child will refuse it, and as it does not gripe, the child is glad to take it again. A bottle can be obtained of any druggist for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter being the size bought by families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Syrup Pepsin is for all the family from infancy to old age, and because of its mildness families should prefer it over all other remedies. It is absolutely safe and reliable. You will never again give cathartics, pills, salts or such harsh physics, for they are usually unnecessary, and in the case of children, women and elderly people are a great shock to the system, and hence should be avoided.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

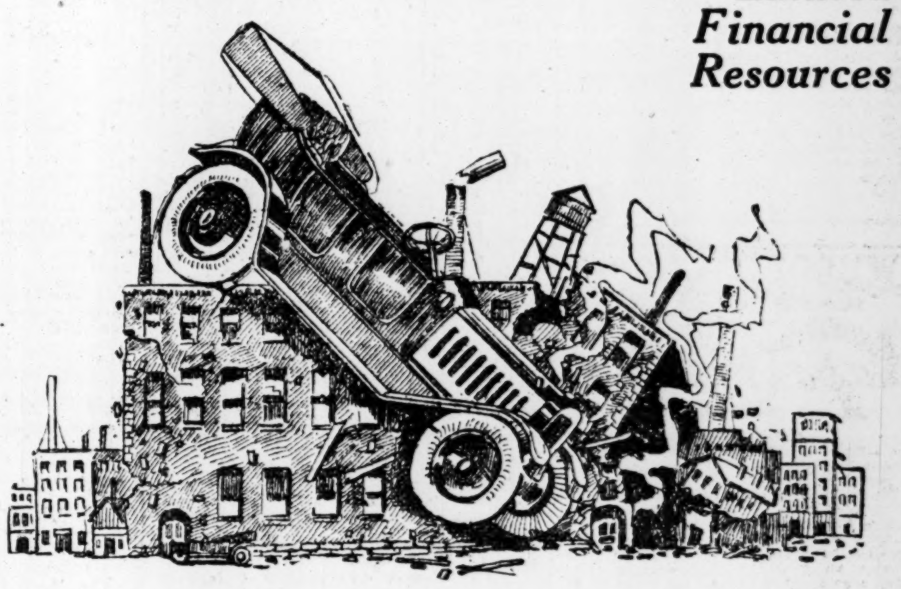
Velie

The real value of your car lies not in the first cost, but the service you can get out of it. Can not service best be assured by purchasing from a reliable manufacturer?

Limited Financial Resources



A Sound Factory Supports the Velie

IT is not necessary for the prospective automobile buyer to purchase a car whose value has depreciated before he takes possession, simply because the factory back of it is not on a sound financial footing, and, through inexperience in the manufacturing line, is liable to go under at any time. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

LET WALL STREET STING THE PIKERS

Price Not Too Big for Extended Market, Says Prof. Emery—White Tells of Millionaire's Order.

Washington, February 11.—That the price—the little "pikers being stung" by operations on the stock exchange—though a big one, is not too big to pay for the benefit of an extended market, which would be narrowed by the operation of the proposed law for the regulation of stock exchanges, was the position taken today by Henry C. Emery, professor of economics at Yale, before the senate committee on banking and currency. Professor Emery insisted that the benefits of a stock exchange would be ruined by government regulation.

E. P. Page, of New York, a member of the Hughes commission, also opposed government regulation, though he, as well as Professor Emery, admitted some of the evils congress is seeking to remedy. The real need for regulation by congress, he said, was the issuing of securities, and public opinion was sufficient to keep the stock exchange straight.

He said the New York stock exchange had adopted twelve out of sixteen recommendations made to it by the Hughes commission, while the New York legislature had not adopted a single one.

Protecting Poor Young Men.

Young men of no means were protected from losing money on the stock exchange, Mr. Page said, because those employed in financial institutions would lose their positions if their employers learned they were speculating, and because brokers would not fill orders for such men.

Senator Nelson suggested that a 20 per cent margin provision would protect young men by acting as a deterrent, and when Mr. Page took issue with him, he replied:

"Then you rich men think you ought to be permitted to handle gunpowder, but the poor devils, who like the game as well as you do, mustn't touch it."

Judge Milburn, counsel for the New York stock exchange, said the proposed law would be unconstitutional, because it sought to regulate by subterfuge something that could not otherwise be regulated. He objected to the incorporation requirement, saying if the stock exchange were incorporated instead of being merely an association, it could not so rigidly control the actions of members.

Exchange Has Reformed, White Says.

Horace White, chairman of the Hughes stock exchange commission of 1909, testified that the New York stock exchange had met the reforms suggested by the commission in a proper manner.

He declared present laws were sufficient to regulate conduct of exchanges and that, in his opinion, there had been great improvement in their practices during the last few years.

Mr. White declared that there had not been a corner on the New York stock exchange for thirteen years and predicted none would be seen in the next thirteen.

The stock exchange, he said, had adopted all but four of the New York commission's recommendations. Rules for settlement in price concerns, control of curb trading, penalties for false statements of financial condition and preservation of clearing house sheets for six years were those rejected, he said.

Gave Order While Drunk.

Mr. White declared speculation was the only way to establish prices. Two charges of recent years of "manipulation by an inside ring" were ill-founded, he said.

One instance was the Hocking Valley pool, he said, in which brokers invested their own money, believing they had a bonanza and lost all.

The second was a Rock Island boom. That, he said, had its inception in "one of the richest men in New York," loudly and in public, giving an order for his broker to buy 40,000 shares. The price went up, Mr. White said, and later fell 50 points. The buyer bore the loss and still has the Rock Island stock.

Mr. White had given the rich man's name and declared he gave his order while drunk, but after he and John G. Lilburn, counsel for the New York exchange, held a whispered consultation, Mr. White withdrew the man's name and the statement that he was drunk from the record, although he believed what he said was true. Mr. White was not testifying under oath.

CONFLICT IN TESTIMONY ON NEAR BEER'S EFFECT

One Albany Saloonist Wins Fight—Other Cases Still Unsettled.

Albany, Ga., February 11.—(Special.) From shortly after noon till nightfall today Judge E. E. Cox, in Dougherty superior court, heard the petition of citizens of Albany to make permanent the injunction granted last Friday to prevent thirteen Albany near beer saloons from engaging in business, it being alleged that all were blind tigers, the drinks sold over their counters being "intoxicants" in the eyes of the law.

Pending today's hearing all near beer places in the city, including those not temporarily enjoined, have remained closed, so far as the sale of beer is concerned.

The fight today came on the case of one near beer dealer, Louis Nahoom. Dozens of witnesses were examined as to the effect on them of beer sold by Nahoom. There was sharp conflict in the testimony.

A number of affidavits were submitted, as were samples of the goods sold by Nahoom. At the close of the hearing the injunction against Nahoom was dissolved, but all the others remain in force till Saturday, when Judge Cox will give the petitioners opportunity to prove, on the testimony of reputable chemists, that the beers exhibited and alleged to be intoxicating, really contains a sufficient percentage of alcohol to place them under the band of prohibition statute.

The superior courtroom was packed throughout the hearing and the keenest interest was manifested in the proceedings.

The saloon men are still "up in the air," for they will not know their status till Saturday.

Judge Cox indicated today that he would make the restraining orders permanent if it should appear, as the result of chemical analysis, that the beer being sold by defendants contained a sufficient percentage of alcohol to violate the law.

RAILROADS PREPARING FOR SHRINER MEETING

Representatives of the operating and passenger departments of Atlanta and West Point, Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, Central of Georgia and Southern railways, at a joint conference with Potentate Forrest Adair, of Yaarab Temple, Wednesday morning, outlined plans for efficiently handling the hosts of American Nobles of the Mystic Shrine who will attend the imperial council in Atlanta on May 10 to 13. The important questions of parking Pullman cars, their proper care and the lighting of the tracks on which cars are to be parked, proper handling of baggage, posting of bulletins, establishment of public comforts, establishment of information bureaus, were considered. Forrest Adair urged upon the railroad men the importance of these steps, as it would be necessary in order to care for the immense host of 30,000 nobles who will visit Atlanta.

The railroad officials assured Mr. Adair that every possible provision for the comfort, convenience and safety of the great throng of visitors would be made. Experts in the handling of crowds will be in charge and every detail of the transportation end will be cared for in an efficient manner.

Portsmouth, N. H., February 11.—George Gunning, alias Edgar Beach, the aged "society butler thief," was held in $10,000 bond today on the charge of stealing jewelry valued at $20,000 from George H. Studebaker. The jewelry was taken from the Studebaker cottage at Little Bears Head, on June 17, 1912, while Gunning was employed there as a butler.

Gunning was arrested in Philadelphia on his release from prison, after serving a term for stealing diamonds in that city.

Savannah Wants Depot.

Washington, February 11.—Mayor Davant, of Savannah, today told Assistant Secretary Sweet, of the department of commerce, that if the government would locate the new lighthouse supply depot for the south Atlantic coast at Savannah arrangements would be made for the government to obtain a larger site for the building than first was contemplated. Charleston, Brunswick and other coast cities are contending for the depot.

Wife and Sister Here Searching for Husband Who Left After Spat

Hoping to find James B. Dent, who disappeared from his Texas home three weeks ago, following a family quarrel, his anxious wife and a loving sister are now making a search of Atlanta.

The sister, Miss Ione Dent, a slender, dark-haired girl of about 23, came to police headquarters yesterday and pleaded with Chief Beavers to assist in the search. He ordered each of his 300 or more members to take a personal interest in the case and locate Dent if he is to be found in town.

Young Dent, who has been a confectioner in their home, Greenville, Texas, has been married for two years and a half. His domestic life had been serene and happy until the three weeks past, when there arose a slight difficulty, at which he disappeared.

A day or so ago, sister and wife heard he was in Atlanta. They traced him by aid of the police from Dallas to New Orleans, and then to Atlanta. Now they have confined their efforts to this city, hoping to locate him here sooner or later.

"If we could only find where he is," said the sister. "Mary has forgiven him everything, and there is no need for him to remain away. If I can ever get them together for a moment—why, we'll all go home as happily as could be desired."

DRIVER OF MOTORCYCLE HELD FOR HITTING GIRL

Miss Ida Farrar Is Knocked Down Just After Getting Off a Trolley Car.

The driver of a motorcycle was held by the police under bond of $500 following a serious accident last night at Marietta street and Longley avenue, in which Miss Ida Farrar, a pretty young girl, was painfully injured.

Miss Farrar was stepping from an outgoing Marietta stret trolley car, when a motorcycle, driven by L. Z. Hyer, Jr., a car inspector, who lives at Inman Yards, struck her. The girl and Hyer were thrown to the pavement. He was also severely scratched about the head and hands.

Policemen Evans and Palmer were called to the scene on motorcycles. They made an effort to send the injured girl to Grady hospital, but she refused, insisting on being carried to her residence at 15 Longley avenue. Physicians stated that there would be no serious results from her injuries, although she would be confined to bed for a considerable while.

After interviewing eyewitnesses, the policemen sent Hyer to headquarters, where he was locked up under a charge of violating the road ordinance. It was stated that he rode ahead past the trolley car while it was at a standstill. His case will be heard in police court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

BODY OF YOUNG GIRL FOUND NEAR COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—The body of an unknown young white woman, apparently about 17 years old, was found late this afternoon in the Chattahoochee river, two miles south of Columbus, on the Alabama side of the stream. The discovery was made by W. D. Willis, a plantation overseer, who noticed the body in some driftwood near the shore.

The features were badly swollen, and unrecognizable. The woman was attired in a rather plain dress, and wore a pair of new shoes. Two rings were on one of her left fingers. There was nothing about her person to establish her identity.

The Muscogee county coroner went to the scene tonight, accompanied by officers. The body was brought to the city, and an inquest will be held tomorrow. No young woman of this age is reported missing in Columbus, and the body may have found its way into the river at some point north of this city.

New York, February 11.—The official board of the National Woman's Suffrage association today issued a call to the suffragists of the country to rally May 2 at open-air mass meetings in every city, village and hamlet from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The signal is to be a trumpet call, to which suffragists are to respond by singing a hymn, now being written for the occasion, and to adopt at that time a nation-wide resolution to be presented to congress demanding political freedom for American woman.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brinks back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

AT THE THEATERS

Henrietta Crosman.

(At the Atlanta.)

Tonight Henrietta Crosman comes to the Atlanta with her new comedy, "The Tongues of Men." She will be here Friday and Saturday also, with a matinee Saturday. "The Tongues of Men" is a brilliant satire on the temperament of artists, the player impersonating one of our most noted operatic stars. It is particularly worth while and funny to a point that makes it decidedly the most prominent comedy of the present season. Miss Crosman has been provided with a part which the magazine critics and the public acclaim the best she has essayed since "Mistress Nell." She is bringing her New York company.

George Evans' Minstrels.

(At the Atlanta.)

This morning at 9 o'clock seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of George Evans and his "Honey Boy Minstrels." They come to the playhouse Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week and are sure of packing the theater. This season Evans has a show which is new from start to finish. He has many of the old-time favorites with him, but also a number of new faces which are sure to please. Evans is considered the undisputed funiest man on the black-face stage and his coming here is always an event of importance. Minstrelsy has a big following in Atlanta and Evans always pleases with his offerings. A matinee will be given Wednesday.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

The headliner of the bill at the Forsyth this week is making good with a will. Miss Lucy Daly, who is well known in Atlanta, having been a co-star with Ward & Vokes in musical comedy. She gives her own version of the tango, which is the correct version. As danced by Miss Daly and Paul Jones Chute, it is a beautiful, artistic and thoroughly proper dance, as much so as the minuet of our grandmothers' day. Other popular members on the bill are Andy Rice, a very entertaining comedian, of the Perlmutter type; Pietro, the most successful of the piano-accordeonists ever seen on any local stage; C. H. O'Donnell and company, who offer an intensely interesting sketch called "Flashlight Cragin."

"We Are Seven."

(At the Lyric.)

"We Are Seven" is the attraction that Norman Hackett and his splendid company are offering this week at the Lyric theater. On the order of "Young Wisdom," which appeared in this city several months ago, "We Are Seven" is a sparkling comedy, something unusual. Mr. Hackett and his players are at their best, and the three acts are full of snap and ginger, in which comedy plays no small part. Next week "Our New Minister" will be the bill.

Eddie Black.

(At the Bijou.)

Another successful week is in progress at the Bijou, where Eddie Black and his players are drawing large and enthusiastic audiences to see the melodrama of city life entitled "Beware of Men." As the title would indicate, the play deals with a scheming villain who, by promise of marriage, induces the country girl to go to New York, where she is later abandoned and finally rescued by a young minister who is in charge of one of New York's many missions. The story is one that appeals to all classes of theatergoers, and holds the attention in a vice-like grip from curtain to curtain. Eddie Black has a part in which he appears to excellent advantage, and the balance of the company is well cast.

EXPORT COTTON POLICY ABANDONED BY L. & N.

No Through Bills of Lading Will Be Issued on Compress Receipts.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 11.—(Special.)—The Louisville and Nashville railroad has decided to abandon its policy with regard to shipments of cotton to the ports for export, which, bad as it was before that time, became much worse after the Knight & Yancey failure. The announcement was made at a hearing before the interstate commerce commission by R. Walton Moore and reiterated by W. A. Northcutt, attorneys for the road, who were defending the company in the complaints of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce and Business league and the New Orleans Cotton Exchange and the Brownsville (Tenn.) Commercial association.

The L. & N. hereafter will make rates for shipside delivery and issue through bills of lading. Heretofore its through bills of lading have been of little use to cotton exporters. The road will, however, adhere to its determination to issue no through bill of lading until the cotton is actually in the cars. Other roads may continue issuing bills of lading based on compress receipts, but the L. & N. will not.

"We don't believe in being a party to swindling the people on the other side," said Mr. Northcutt, in explaining why no through bills of lading will be issued on compress receipts. The only reason any cotton shipper asks for a through bill of lading in advance of the cotton being loaded in the cars he sells is so that he may deposit the bill in a bank and begin drawing interest on the amount of money represented by the draft before he has actually delivered the cotton to the transportation company.

This announcement was put forward by the railroad company as a reason why the Mobile complaint should not be pressed.

"We're willing to admit the L. & N. has been fairly decent during the cotton shipping season that is now closing, but we think we ought to have an order from this body giving some assurance that it will remain Godly," said the complainants.

Here' a Heart Story; Every Line Is True

EDITOR CONSTITUTION:

Slowly I walked down the street, out of work, out of money, out of heart. Things looked mighty blue to me, a stranger in a strange land. If I could get hold of a paper to see the "want ads" perhaps I could find something available. But newspapers cost money as well as anything else, I figured, and five cents for a paper that frosty winter morning looked like five dollars.

Suddenly I saw in front of me a bit of white paper. I picked it up and—it was—a street car ticket. I turned to a prosperous looking man near me and soon exchanged the ticket for a five cent piece. "What is the leading paper here?" I asked him. "Why The Constitution, son," he said as he made for his car.

My nickel was promptly exchanged for a paper of that brand from the nearest news boy, and the want ads looked over with bated breath. Yes, there it was, "Men wanted to work in — factory, apply at once," and in twenty minutes, by the clock, I was at work with good job, good boarding house and — Good luck to The Constitution.

ATLANTA OFFERS LOGIC.

It is natural that the special committee charged with presenting Atlanta's candidacy for a regional bank should continue to be overwhelmed by indorsements from representative national banks and bankers throughout the nation.

The spontaneity with which impartial financiers have backed Atlanta's cause is based upon the sheer logic of the appeal made by this city.

Atlanta is the natural clearing-house for the tremendously rich and populous territory lying between middle North Carolina to the north and the western Alabama line. It embraces that region south of the Ohio river toward the Atlantic ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

This district is the industrial heart of the eastern south. It has grown phenomenally in wealth, in manufactures, in population for the past two decades. Its growth during the next five years must be more than phenomenal, a matter which does not easily lend itself to speculation.

Under the Glass-Owens bill it is contemplated that regional banks shall be situated with primary regard to two factors:

Geographical centrality and command of quick facilities of communication.

Nearness to the main tides of finance, as they rise and fall and shift in response to commercial and economic influence.

Atlanta mathematically answers this prescription.

The city's geographical supremacy is self-evident. Without it it would not have built up the tremendous southern business that is its possession today; it would not now be the southern headquarters for important national corporations and insurance agencies.

Its financial position speaks in the remarkable annual growth of its clearings. Last year Atlanta led all cities in the whole south, save New Orleans, and really exceeded New Orleans, since the clearings of that city declined while Atlanta's advanced wonderfully.

These facts are their own arguments. It is only necessary that they be presented to the able organization committee Friday and Saturday.

And the personnel of the Atlanta committee is guarantee that the task will be ably and succinctly performed.

THE NEW ENQUIRER-SUN.

An event of importance in the journalistic activities of the state is the purchase of The Columbus Enquirer-Sun from its long-time owner, C. I. Groover, by Judge Price Gilbert. Judge Gilbert now presides over the Chattahoochee circuit. For many years he has stood at the front rank of the judiciary in Georgia. His legal acumen and his straightforward fearlessness are proverbial. Joined to these qualities is an intellectual vigor and vision and encyclopedic knowledge of Georgia, its people and its problems.

The Enquirer-Sun is influential and one of the best newspaper properties of the state. It serves a territory that is rich and populous, and under the administration of Mr. Groover it has earned an enviable place in Georgia journalism.

Judge Gilbert's regime will undoubtedly be distinguished by broad service and energetic advocacy of worthy public causes. Under his direction The Enquirer-Sun will naturally reflect the sturdy and progressive principles associated with his signal service on the bench. Mr. Groover, from whom Judge Gilbert purchases The Enquirer-Sun, has worked intelligently for the advancement of his section. He is among the most widely-known journalists and business men in Georgia, and has been instrumental in many of the movements that have made for civic and material uplift.

OUR PERPETUAL CONGRESS.

One who examines the federal constitution with its amendments, or tries to keep trace of the purposes of the fathers, will find himself increasingly baffled by the strange and unwieldy creature into which the national congress has grown. After only a constructive recess, congress met on March 4, 1913. And by the time the next March 4 shall roll around it will be still in session, with small prospects of immediate adjournment. When it is remembered that a similar obstinacy of tenure have marked congresses ever since the middle of the administration of Roosevelt, the question is pertinent: "Have we a perpetual congress on our hands?"

The matter assumes very much that complexion. First, we had a special session by Taft to revise the tariff, ostensibly downward. Since then there have been few intermissions in the sessions of the national legislature. It is true that the blunders of Taft and the fortunes of politics contributed largely to this end. But still we are faced by the fact that for several years we have violated the spirit of the framers of the constitution by tolerating congress constantly in session, instead of arranging a short session, constitutionally limited, one year and a long one the next.

It may be claimed that the national business has evolved into such proportions that we must have congress constantly available for purposes of consultation and the passage of needed laws. But there have been other periods of growth and of strenuous development as notable, almost, as this one. And, above all, the fact remains that, need congress as badly as we may on permanent issues of legislation, the clumsy methods under which it does business makes one or the other of its branches idle a large part of the time of its sessions.

Irrespective of which party is in power, it is becoming increasingly evident that these protracted sessions of congress work no good to the business of the nation. Indeed, the uncertainty to which they give rise and the political agitation they invite, may easily grow into positive causes of evil. It begins to seem that congress needs a strong curb. Whether through a constitutional amendment, or through a radical revision of its method of doing business, may become a legitimate subject for non-partisan debate.

WITTE'S FRANKENSTEIN.

History has shown few more infamous or appalling spectacles than the great empire of Russia in its present role of actually creating inebriates. Serge Witte, former premier, gave point to the intolerable situation when, recently, he implored the council of empire to modify the nationally-conducted monopoly of intoxicants. There was an element of the tragic in Witte's prayer. It was Witte who, as minister of finance, suggested that Russia take over a monopoly on vodka and the beverages generally consumed by the Russian masses. Now his own creation has risen, like Frankenstein, to pursue himself and his nation. For drunkenness is on the increase throughout Russia. And if we are to believe those who are fighting the government monopoly, the government itself, having discovered an unfailing and phenomenal source of revenue, does not scruple to encourage consumption by every device.

Those who know Sergius Witte personally believe his original advocacy of a governmental monopoly in liquor was conceived in honesty and a desire to promote temperance. Witte himself now claims that such were his motives. He had planned, he says, to place liquor under government control that consumption might be gradually decreased. And it was his intention that the profits from the traffic be applied to the sadly-neglected public function of education.

He now charges that his successors have grossly perverted his purposes. Not only is the consumption of liquor on the increase, but educational uses are receiving a mere stipend, while the giant's share of the vodka fund goes to ambitious militaristic projects.

The surprising part is that Witte, a man of level, common sense vision and of undoubted knowledge of Russian officialdom, should not have foreseen just this evolution when he launched his scheme. That to one side, conditions throughout the empire are reported as pitiable. In the meantime, the issue has been projected into politics and is the cause of intense strife from one end of the country to the other.

The dramatic exhibition is a sledge-hammer warning against the suicidal folly of any government's forming a formal or even a silent partnership with vice of any description. The "back-firing" of Witte's well-meant but fallacious intentions is likely to leave a blasting trail over the children of Russia for several generations.

While not very well enlightened as to just how much of a diplomat John Lind is, he has the knack of holding his peace and the confidence of the country.

I.

The folks that think these valentines are only comic trifles
Should see the colonels—majors mad, a-loadin' up their rifles!
The deacon's lookin' for the chaps that sent him ten or twenty;
There's goin' to be—as soon you'll see—old trouble in a plenty!

II.

They'd better hit the grit, or climb the tallest tree or steeple;
They've crossed the path an' raised the wrath of suffragettin' people.
To think, for trouble—low an' high—they'd be sich willin' bidders!
"Lord, save us," soon 'll be the cry, "from war-declarin' widders!"

III.

They're on the war path—never doubt!—their clubs 'll soon be fallin';
You'll know what war wuz started for—the slaughter 'll be appallin'!
The colonels—majors—suffragettes, new styles of cain are raisin',
An' ef the town should stem the storm 'twill be by grace amazin'."

Dainty Sandwiches.

No one ever wants to make or serve a sandwich that is not dainty, but too often the bread breaks because it is too fresh or the slices are filled too full of the mixture and the result is far from what was intended.

Bread for sandwiches should be at least twenty-four hours old; butter each slice lightly before cutting it from the loaf. Now trim off two sides of the crust. These trimmings may be browned in the oven and kept for breading or used other ways so this is not wasted. In making lettuce sandwiches roll the leaves up and cut them across with scissors. A whole lettuce leaf is difficult to handle and spoils the appearance of the sandwich.

When chicken is used you can add one-third veal without anyone being the wiser so far as to the taste. To do this cook the veal with the chicken and let it cool in the chicken broth. Chop both together and season with celery salt and white pepper.

A new mixture that is very pungent is to chop crisp fried bacon into bits and cover a sandwich slice with it and on this place a fine, boned sardine split open and spread out flat. Spread with mayonnaise or with mustard. Cover with a thin upper slice.

Dutch sandwiches are made from Bohemian or rye bread. Chopped, chipped beef, cheese, bologna sausage and finally chopped pickle are all used. Salami is a finely seasoned sausage, that may be bought from any German butcher, that is delicious with rye bread.

A healthy filling that will please everyone and that no one will be able to identify is made by frying sausage and dried salted beef together until well done. Drain and put through the chopper and mix with mayonnaise dressing.

A fashionable filling is made with caviar. No one ever is fond of this Russian delicacy, but sandwiches made from it are often passed. Put a small sized box of the caviar into a shallow bowl and beat into it alternately a little lemon juice and olive oil until you have a thick white paste. Press a hard boiled egg through a sieve and sprinkle this over the caviar after it is spread on the bread.

If ham is minced with a chopper and then mixed with a very little sweet cream or warm butter it spreads evenly and is better flavored than when cut in slices and laid in the bread.

Ice cream sandwiches are made with any flavored cream and macaroons or sponge cakes. Sweet sandwiches are filled with figs, nuts and dates chopped together and mixed with sugar and spread on white bread or wafers. Quince and crab apple jelly make a fine mixture for these dainties.

Punches, ices and ginger ale or some similar beverage is served with sweet sandwiches, tea with white bread ones and coffee with rye, Boston brown and whole wheat slices.

SAYS PAUL DID USE WORD "BLOOD"

Editor Constitution: I notice in your last Monday's paper that Dr. C. A. Ridley stated in his morning sermon that the King James translation of the first clause of Acts 17:26—"And hath made of one blood all nations of men"—is misleading—that Paul did not use the word blood at all. I desire kindly and courteously to ask the brother to consult his Greek Testament. He will find the words "Ex henas haimatos," "of one blood" clearly stated.

PLAYING AND BEING.
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

No one could sit long before the acting of the late Joseph Jefferson without being tremendously impressed with the fact that before one was a man not merely Playing a Part, but a man who WAS the Part. For Jefferson to Act, was for him to Be the actual Character.

And yet, after all, perfect Acting is but Living the Part.

Sometimes it seems that the myriad affairs of life have become so inter-mixed and inter-massed that Earnestness and Individuality of Excellence only come about here and there when a man or woman decides to Be instead of to Play.

The man who unconsciously grows is the man who is afraid to Play while at his Job.

The Imitators and Tinkerers dot the world's activities. Have you ever stopped to ask yourself whether or not you are one of the Dots? Have you ever answered to yourself, truly and with conviction, that you are actually Being the Part in which you are engaged?

The way to be an Orator is to forget Oratory. In like manner the way to be a great Worker and Doer is to forget that you are at Work and that you are Doing.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF DISTINGUISHED WOMEN

By MRS. ROBERT P. HILL,
Wife of Representative Hill, of Illinois.

For a pleasant variation in the meat routine, round steak may be prepared with a little trouble, so as to give a most delicious dish.

Swiss Steak.

Have the round steak cut from two to two and a half inches in thickness, then rub with salt and pepper to taste and pound in all the flour that the steak will take.

Next put a piece of butter, or just enough lard to prevent the meat from sticking, into a skillet and let it become smoking hot. Then add the steak and let it brown nicely on both sides.

Take a covered baking dish, place the browned steak in it and pour over it sufficient boiling water to cover the meat, lay two or three slices of bacon on top, and an onion minced up, cover, and let bake for an hour and a half. The steak will be so tender that it scarcely needs to be cut. Potatoes may also be browned in the gravy, and thus the housekeeper has three dishes all cooked in the same pan at the same time.

"Adjutant!" thundered Colonel Bouch, after a moment's pause: "Detail ten men for baptism! No damned Massachusetts regiment shall beat mine for piety!"

The Great Trials of History

TRIAL OF JOHN C. COLT.

In September of 1841 the entire country was stirred by the coldblooded killing of Samuel Adams, a highly respected printer of New York city. No such deep widespread excitement had for many years attended any other of the numerous murders committed for pecuniary motives. The deed was done by John C. Colt, the author of the system of bookkeeping and penmanship bearing his name, and brother of the well-known inventor of the revolver.

The reason for this murder was as uncalled for and upon as small a provocation as was the murder of Dr. Parkman, the millionaire of Boston, by Professor Webster, of Harvard university. Colt had, for some time, owed Adams a bill for printing which he was unprepared to pay. The final call made by Adams at Colt's room on Broadway for a settlement of the account resulted in a tragedy rarely equaled in the annals of crime.

For some days the mysterious absence of Mr. Adams was the subject of universal comment in the newspaper press. The discovery of the murder was made through the instrumentality of Mr. Wheeler, who occupied a room adjoining that of Mr. Colt. About 4 o'clock on the day of Mr. Adams' disappearance Mr. Wheeler thought he heard an unusual noise in Colt's room, and was induced to go to the door and rap.

Not receiving any answer, Wheeler looked through the keyhole and saw two hats upon a table and Colt kneeling upon the floor, as if scrubbing it. After waiting a little while Mr. Wheeler peeped into the keyhole again and saw Colt still engaged in the same operation. This excited his suspicion and he caused a person to watch at the door all night. In the morning Colt was seen to take a box about four feet long and two high, downstairs. The box was directed to somebody in St. Louis, via New Orleans. Mr. Wheeler gave information of these facts to the mayor, who immediately instituted search for the box. It was found after some difficulty on board of the ship Kalamazoo, and in it the body of Mr. Adams, wrapped up in sailcloth and sprinkled with salt and chloride of lime.

Colt was at once arrested, and an indictment of willful and deliberate murder found against him. His trial resulted in his conviction, and notwithstanding the efforts of numerous and powerful friends, and the lavish use of money in his behalf, the fatal day arrived when he was to pay the extreme penalty of the law for his crime. At the trial he continued to proclaim his innocence and he spoke harshly of the press, which he accused of being in a scheme to hound him to his death.

There were many picturesque things in connection with the trial and the death of Colt. At 11 o'clock on the day he was to be executed, Rev. Dr. Anthon visited his cell in company with Colt's brother, for the purpose of marrying the murderer to his mistress, Caroline Henshaw. The ceremony was performed, Colt manifesting a deep interest in their child. He also handed a package containing five hundred dollars for its benefit to Dr. Anthon, who proffered to become sponsor for it.

Following the ceremony, two of Colt's former friends, John Howard Payne and Lewis Gaylord Clarke, visited him. After a call from the sheriff and a visit and prayer from Dr. Anthon, Colt asked to be alone until the last moment. This was about 2 o'clock. His cell was closed and he was left alone until about twenty minutes of three, when some friends of the sheriff, apprehending that an attempt at suicide might be made, desired Deputy Sheriff Hillyer to go to Colt's cell door and request to wish him goodby. Colt at the time was pacing to and fro in his cell.

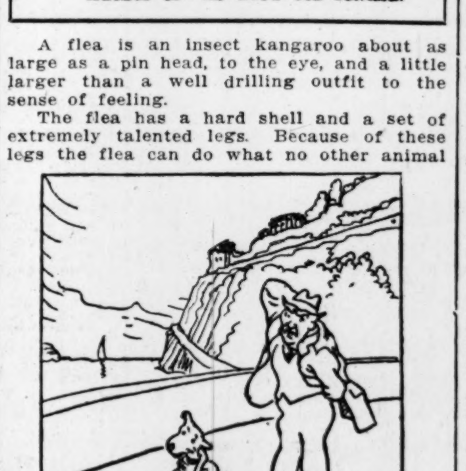
From this time on he was not interrupted until five minutes to four; at which time Sheriffs Hart and Westervelt, dressed in uniform, proceeded to his cell. On the keeper opening the door and going within, there lay Colt on his back, stretched out full length on the bed, quite dead. A claspknife, like a small dirk knife, with a broken handle, was sticking in his heart. He had stabbed himself above the fifth rib on the left side. His temples were yet warm. His vest was open and blood had frowed freely. His body lay as straight on the bed as if laid out for a funeral by others.

Most strange to say, just at this moment the large cupola of the prison was discovered to be on fire, and burned furiously. The scene and circumstances were tragical to a degree altogether indescribable.

THE FLEA.
By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

A flea is an insect kangaroo about as large as a pin head, to the eye, and a little larger than a well drilling outfit to the sense of feeling.

The flea has a hard shell and a set of extremely talented legs. Because of these legs the flea can do what no other animal or insect has ever been able to accomplish. He can be in two places at once—under the thumb of an angry man and four feet away, getting ready to jump again.



Nothing pleases the flea more than to jump down the neck of a perfect stranger.

This is an astonishing statement, but can be proven by several million people who have hunted the flea with murderous intent at one time or another. It is perfectly easy to place a large horny thumb on a small flea while he is sitting in an attitude of quiet meditation. Every one does it. When the owner of the thumb has put it over the flea he will readily bet all he has that the flea is there. But a careful examination will usually disclose him a yard or more away admiring the scenery. Those patient diplomats, who have been hanging around the department of state since March and invariably asking for the secretary on the wrong day, call the flea the William Jennings Bryan family.

The flea is very small, but he can jump farther than the hippopotamus. He can jump several hundred times his own length. If man were as good a jumper as the flea, he would treat the elevators in the Woolworth building with quiet scorn and would leap lightly to the cornice from Broadway. However, after the flea has spent several hours executing prodigious jumps he is usually within ten inches of the spot where he began. This would fill us with great contempt for the flea's intelligence if we did not at this minute think of the hundreds of automobile owners who travel all day at the rate of 50 miles an hour in order to land where they started.

The flea inhabits warm, sandy countries, and is very fond of human society. Nothing pleases a flea so much as to jump down the collar of a perfect stranger and roam around him for days at a time, occasionally sinking a shaft into him in the hopes of striking oil. Fleas will not touch some people, but love others dearly and travel for miles to congregate upon them. When traveling in Italy always choose a companion who is madly beloved by the flea. This will enable you and many others in the same neighborhood to travel in comparative comfort.

UPLAND RICE CULTURE IN GEORGIA—AN AGRICULTURAL ROMANCE

On the mountain slopes of northeast Georgia the traveler of today finds many old, ante-bellum mansions. Situated in what were once beautiful groves, overlooking pleasant valleys, they represent a remnant of a past era. Most of them have fallen into decay and are but ghosts of the one-time haunts of a grand aristocracy.

Many of those homes were established by wealthy slave owners from the lowlands of South Carolina. They maintained these mountain places for summer residences and the establishments were supported outside of their productions, from the earnings of the rich lands along the Carolina coast, where the best rice known to commerce has been produced for more than two centuries.

Negroes From Rice Plantations Gone.

To these places there were carried the pick of the slaves from the rice plantations to till the crops on the mountain farms, act as servants during the summers and caretakers in winter. A great many of the negroes now living in the northeast Georgia counties are descendants of those old slaves. A few of the original slaves survive and their speech still differentiates them from other negroes. The lingo of the South Carolina sea island negro has been studied by many persons and written of often. It comprises a mixture of French, English and African dialect and can be understood only by persons who know it from long experience. The peculiar brogue still proclaims the Charleston negro no matter how well educated he may be and regardless of his association with people who speak good or fair English.

Many negroes in the Georgia mountain counties are understood with difficulty by strangers because of a lingering smattering of Carolina patois in their speech.

Upland Rice Culture Begins.

The Carolinians introduced rice culture on the hillsides around their summer homes. Though its culture did not prove commercially profitable it was well worth while, and enough for home consumption, with some excess for sale to the neighbors, was produced.

And since then, though the old-time summer homes were abandoned long ago by their builders, the culture of upland rice on the mountain sides has continued. Many find the patches profitable, and according to results attained by a few it might be made worth while as a commercial proposition. The old negroes are said to be the most adept at rice growing and production seems to have diminished as they have passed away.

Worthy of More Attention.

Rice is not regarded as a product which can be successfully produced on dry upland that cannot be irrigated. Virtually all the commercial rice grown is developed on flat land where it can grow under water. Though this country produces the best grade of head rice known to the commercial world, we raise only a small per centage of what we consume. The remainder is imported from Europe and the tropics. As everyone knows it is one of the most valuable of cereals. Though in this country it is treated as a side or incidental dish, in many lands, as in Japan and China, it comprises virtually the entire menu of every meal consumed by a large portion of the people. It is perhaps the most nutritive of cereals.

If what is reported concerning the production of upland rice in the mountains is true, there is no good reason why any farmer in Georgia should not be able to grow enough of this product for his own table.

Production Has Decreased.

According to the state department of agriculture, the average yield in the mountain counties twenty years ago was 800 pounds, or about 100 bushels, to the acre. The maximum yield is estimated at 4,300 pounds. This was attained, according to the department, in Hall and White counties.

Even if one-half the maximum could be established as an average its culture would be quite attractive even in the commercial sense.

In 1890 Georgia ranked third in rice production. There were reported for that year 18,126 acres which produced 14,556,432 pounds. The annual yield fell to 7,500,000 pounds in 1900.

In 1910, only 6,445 acres, which produced only 148,698 bushels were reported. The value of the crop was only $145,813.

The counties reporting rice culture were Appling, Ben Hill, Berrien, Brooks, Bryan, Bulloch, Calhoun, Camden, Charlton, Chatham, Clinch, Coffee, Colquitt, Decatur, Dougherty, Early, Echols, Effingham, Emanuel, Glynn, Grady, Habersham, Hall, Irwin, Jeff Davis, Lee, Liberty, Lowndes, McIntosh, Montgomery, Pierce, Screven, Tattnall, Telfair, Tift, Toombs, Turner, Ware, Wayne, White and Worth.

Many of these reported only from two to fifty acres, the only ones where the crop was of moment being the marshland counties like Chatham, Camden and McIntosh.

Virtually None Reported in Mountains.

Habersham and Hall, where the culture was once of importance, reported only 37 and 3 bushels, respectively, though undoubtedly a great deal more was grown. All was not reported because it was produced chiefly in small quantities in garden patches.

People who have consumed upland rice say that it is more toothsome than that grown in the lowlands. Though of smaller and darker grain, it has a nutty flavor not conveyed by the better looking head rice.

The mountain culture has never developed beyond the crude processes known a thousand years ago. It has to be cultivated and thereby is planted in drills. But it is harvested with knives, threshed by hand and cleaned with wooden mortars and pestles of the kind probably used by Abraham and Isaac.

Dr. L. G. Hardman, who owns fine farming lands in the Nacoochee valley, I am told, has found the industry profitable and has established a mill for cleaning rice and has introduced the industry to modern machinery and methods with encouraging success.

RAILROADS CANNOT INCREASE RATES

Proposed to Double Fares of Persons Occupying Drawing Rooms Is Turned Down by Commission.

The railroad commission has flatly refused to grant permission to the Central of Georgia and the Atlantic Coast Line railroads to practically double its passenger rates under certain conditions

Briefly stated these two roads proposed to charge double fares to all persons occupying drawing rooms. Just why a person occupying a drawing room, and paying the Pullman company for that privilege, should be required to pay two fares when he did not occupy but a certain amount of space, the commission could not see.

The following statement of the case was prepared by the railroad commission:

Effort to Increase Fares

"Under dates of January 20 and February 2, the Central of Georgia Railway company and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company petitioned the railroad commission of Georgia, for authority to put into effect on March 1 next, applicable to intra-state passenger traffic in Georgia, tariffs which they have filed with the interstate commerce commission applicable to interstate passenger traffic, under which each carrier will collect a minimum of two first-class adult one-way or excursion passage tickets, or their equivalent, for the exclusive use of a drawing room in sleeping cars or parlor cars, even though such drawing room be occupied by only one person The same rule is to be applied to the occupancy of a compartment, except that the parties to the tariff will collect a minimum of one and one-half first-class adult one-way or excursion passage tickets, or their equivalent

"As this appears to the Georgia commission, it is a bold proposition to increase passenger railroad fares, under certain circumstances, where the carrier is not rendering any additional or extra services.

"As a general rule sleeping car accommodations are furnished by sleeping car companies, and not by the railroad companies The fares on Pullman cars are fixed according to the space used and the distance traveled. If a party rents a lower or an upper berth, a section or a drawing room, he rents it from the sleeping car company, not from the railroad company, generally—and pays it a fixed charge for the space occupied. Pullman fares have absolutely nothing to do with the train fares. If they are too low, of course the sleeping car company should be the one to complain. The railroad commission of Georgia was unable to see any grounds at all justifying the proposed increase of train fares, to a party who is able to rent and pay for space in a sleeping car, and hence denied the application."

The Central of Georgia operates its own sleeping cars on some of its Georgia lines, and its application was not to increase its sleeping car fares, but its train fares.

The tariffs filed with the interstate commerce commission are the joint tariffs of all the trunk lines in the southeast, and the increased train fares proposed become effective as to all interstate traffic on March 1, 1914.

How Increase Would Work.

The following schedule shows how such an increase would work:

From Atlanta to Washington—Present railroad fare, $16.30; Pullman berth, $4; Pullman drawing room, $14. Combined railroad fare and Pullman charge of single passenger in drawing room, at present, $30.30; proposed, $46.90.

From Atlanta to Charlotte—Present railroad fare, $6.70; Pullman berth, $2; Pullman drawing room, $7. Combined railroad fare and Pullman charge for single passenger in drawing room, at present, $13.70; proposed, $20.40.

From Atlanta to Louisville—Present railroad fare, $12.30; Pullman berth, $2.50; Pullman drawing room, $9. Combined railroad fare and Pullman charge for single passenger in drawing room, at present, $21.30; proposed, $33.60.

From Atlanta to Cincinnati—Present railroad fare, $13.25; Pullman berth, $2.50; Pullman drawing room, $9. Combined railroad fare and Pullman charge for single passenger in drawing room, at present, $22.25; proposed, $36.50.

From Atlanta to Savannah—Present railroad fare, $6.95; Pullman berth, $2; Pullman drawing room, $5. Combined railroad fare and Pullman charge for single passenger in drawing room, at present, $11.95; proposed, $18.90.

Traffic between Waycross and Lakeland is being detoured over Georgia Southern and Seaboard Air-Line tracks, pending repairs, which will be completed within forty hours.

TUG POTOMAC IN ICE; ALL THE CREW WELL

Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, February 11.—Several of the crew of the American naval tug Potomac, which is fast in the ice off here, came ashore today and are at Lobster Head light station. They reported that all of the thirty-six men of the tug were well, but that the vessel was short of coal and provisions.

The lightkeeper at Lobster Head sighted the Potomac three miles north-northwest of the light early yesterday. The vessel was jammed in the ice and showed signals which, however, could not be read because the flags were flying direct from the view point at the station.

When night fell the vessel had drifted considerably northward and bore north by west of the light station. The men arriving here made their way over the ice to the shore this forenoon.

The Potomac was dispatched from the navy yard at Norfolk, Va., more than two weeks ago to release three American fishing schooners which had been caught in the ice in the Bay of Islands. The tug arrived on the scene last Thursday and was endeavoring to open a passage in the ice when the weather conditions became such that she had to steam out into the Gulf of St. Lawrence to avoid being ice-bound in the bay.

Later ice floes gripped the tug and slowly moved her northward. Anxiety for her crew had been felt in shipping circles.

BIBLE IN ENGLISH FOR THE HEBREWS

New York, February 11.—The first translation of the Bible from the original Hebrew, the completion of which was celebrated last night, marks the beginning of other translations into English, which speakers declare was the intention of the committee in charge of the work. Dr. Solomon Schechter, president of the Jewish Theological seminary, said that it is very important that Jews begin in the near future the work of translating a commentary, in which, he stated, Christian scholarship preceded them.

"The completion of this work marks an epoch," said Jacob H. Schiff, who presided. "We shall now have a Jewish Bible printed in a language which our children can read."

"This Bible," said Dr. Kaufman Kopler, "is free from sectarianism and Jewish bias. It is Jewish in that it has taken congnizance of the usages of the synagogue in the order in which the books are presented.

"We present this translation as a peace offering to non-Jewish peoples and hope that it will serve as a link to bind the English-speaking world more closely."

The new Bible represents a compromise between the so-called conservative and progressive branches of Judaism. The diction and phraseology of the King James version are used. Many of the books of the Old Testament appear in an order different from that followed in the Christian Bibles. Daniel, for instance, is placed in the apocalyptic section instead of among the prophets.

WAR ON BILLBOARDS BEGINS IN NEW YORK

New York, February 11.—As the first step in a crusade to be carried on here and at Albany against billboards, Henry H. Curran introduced in the board of aldermen yesterday an ordinance to bring all billboards to be constructed in the future under the strict supervision of the building department.

The ordinance was prepared after many conferences, in which committees of the City club co-operated with the mayor's billboard commission. While it is being considered by the aldermen the billboard commission will send to Albany a bill to permit New York city to tax its billboards just as any other property is taxed in proportion to its value as a revenue-producer.

In addition to this bill, it is proposed to submit a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment which will permit the general regulation of billboards on the grounds that private property owners should not be allowed to erect signs which offend the eye and destroy the sightliness of the landscape.

DEATH RATE IS SHOWN IN GOVERNMENT TABLE

Dr. Kennedy Says the Figures Should Be 16 Instead of 19.3 as Announced.

According to Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, Atlanta's death rate per 1,000 inhabitants, figured on a basis of a population of 180,000, was approximately 16.0 for 1913. Figures announced by the census bureau gives Atlanta a death rate of 19.3.

City health officers declare that Atlanta's death rate is lower than a majority of the cities of the south. The rate is lower, for instance, than Richmond, New Orleans, Memphis and Washington. A table giving the death rates in all the cities where there is a system of registration showed that Atlanta's death was lower than any other city of her size.

Many Non-Residents Treated.

Figuratively speaking, Atlanta has a population of over 270,000 to draw from, that is to say, that the number of non-residents who come to Atlanta for treatment is greater in number than any other city in the south, while as a matter of fact Atlanta's population, according to the last census, was 180,000, the only correct basis upon which the city's death rate can be honestly figured.

"Atlanta's death rate for 1913 did not run 1 per cent above 1912," Dr Kennedy said. "In the last year there were 2,895 deaths in Atlanta, and a great many of them were persons who are non-residents. It must be taken into consideration that Atlanta draws from a large territory. The hospitals get patients from Alabama, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and the entire of north Georgia.

"It must also be taken into consideration that Atlanta has a great many more schools with non-resident students, and like many of the other cities of the south, it has a large negro population."

Although the city health authorities do not claim to have a lower death rate than Birmingham, the federal authorities put Atlanta ahead of the Alabama metropolis, giving Birmingham a rate of 20.4 and Atlanta 19.3.

Here Is Government Table.

Washington, February 11.—A very satisfactory condition of the public health in 1913 is indicated by the general death rate of 13.8 per 1,000 of estimated population in the registration states and cities, statistics for which the census bureau announced today. The rate for the same territory in 1912 was 13.6 and in 1911 was 13.9 per 1,000.

Of the eighteen registration states, Maryland, with 16.3 per 1,000, showed the highest rate; Minnesota, with 10.7, the lowest. Of the forty-five registration cities, Portland, Oregon, with 11.0 per 1,000, showed the lowest rate; Memphis, with 22.9, the highest.

Other cities' rates included:

Birmingham, 20.4; Atlanta, 19.3; Chicago, 17.1; Louisville, 17.2; New Orleans, 21.3; Kansas City, 16.3; St. Louis, 16.2; Nashville, 19.2, and Richmond, 22.4.

SCARLET FEVER FAILS TO STOP HER WEDDING

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 11.—Not even seeing his bride because she and he were swathed in antiseptic wrappings, as was the officiating rabbi, Milton Newman, was married to Miss Theresa Peyser last Sunday night, it became known here today. Both are residents of Baltimore, where Miss Peyser was formerly a nurse in Johns Hopkins hospital. She contracted scarlet fever and was quarantined, but Newman insisted on the marriage just the same.

The wedding date had been set for last Sunday, at the home of a friend, in this city, but last week Miss Peyser became ill with scarlet fever, and was quarantined. Newman insisted that the wedding be carried out as planned, and was given permission by the board of health.

A health officer and a nurse were the only witnesses.

Rabbi Julian Morgenstern, the bride and groom and the witnesses were swathed from head to foot in the antiseptic wrappings, and immediately after the ceremony the bride was taken to a hospital. Today she was said to be well on the road to recovery.

COMMON COUNSEL CLUB FORMALLY ORGANIZED

Washington, February 11.—The Common Counsel club, formed here recently by men prominent in national life, to bring progressive citizens in all parts of the country together for discussion of national affairs, was formally organized here today and a tentative constitution adopted. More than 600 applications for charters for local councils already have been received.

It was decided that the local organizations shall consist of at least ten members and that fifteen local councils may be organized into a state council. The present thirty-odd members in the temporary national council, it was decided, will constitute the first council of the nation. Additional members of the first council may be elected from time to time, but no state's membership will be permitted to exceed two.

S. T. Ballard, of the commission on industrial relations, in an address before the meeting today, advocated the state system of presidential primaries. Addresses also were made by Louis D. Brandeis and Byron R. Newton, assistant secretary of the treasury. The constitution and by-laws, which will be formally adopted later, were presented by Solicitor Folk, of the state department.

METHOD IS PROVIDED FOR NAMING SENATORS

Washington, February 11.—Without a roll call the senate late today passed a bill to provide a temporary method for the nomination and election of senators in states that have not legislated to carry out the seventeenth constitutional amendment for the direct election of senators.

An amendment to make the measure apply only to elections was defeated 37 to 16.

The law would be effective only until the various states provide their own machinery for nominating and electing senators. Where no such methods are provided the bill would make the state laws for nominating and electing state officers applicable to senators.

The only fight against the measure came from southern senators, who contended that the federal government had no constitutional right to intrude into such local matters as the nomination of candidates. Senator Fall, of New Mexico, was the only republican to vote in favor of limiting the bill to elections.

How I Darkened My Gray Hair

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That She Used to Darken Her Gray Hair.

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the prepared dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction and they were all expensive. I finally ran onto a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gives wonderful results. I gave the recipe, which is as follows, to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Use every other day until the hair becomes the required shade, then every two weeks. It will not only darken the gray hair, but removes dandruff and scalp humors, and acts as a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp. You can prepare it at home at very little expense.

BUSINESS AND CONGRESS TO WORK IN HARMONY

Head of the National Commerce Chamber So Declares.

Washington, February 11.—The American business world came into personal touch with men whose ideas and actions are of great moment to business tonight when Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, and Commissioner Prouty, of the interstate commerce commission, addressed the second annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Secretary Wilson discussed the relations of his department with the business world, while Commissioner Prouty outlined the great task undertaken by the commission at the direction of congress—ascertaining the actual value of the country's railroads and other interstate common carriers.

Close attention was accorded the speakers by the delegates, 500 of whom, representing every part of the country, are assembled for the three-day convention.

Clearing House for Business World.

In his address to the convention at the opening session today, Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, retiring president, described the national chamber of commerce as a clearing house where ideas of the business world could be gathered upon any pending legislation and presented to congressional committees or to the president of the United States in concrete farm. A new era had dawned, he said, when business could be relied upon to work in harmony with commerce, and efforts of the national chamber of commerce in this direction had met with cordial response.

Light was thrown on this subject by the report of the committee on banking and currency, which described the work of the committee in connection with the new currency law, pointing out the extent to which is suggestions, indorsed by a referendum poll of the membership of the national chamber, had been incorporated in the measure. The report approved the currency law and declared that bankers and business men the country over now accepted it in that light.

Business and Welfare Work.

Douglas A. Fiske, president of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association, declared that business and civic improvement and welfare work are interdependent. "When the time comes," he said, "that men of affairs generally become interested in community problems, there no longer will be danger of socialism, syndicalism or anarchy."

A feature of the session was a discussion of trade and commercial organization by S. Cristy Mead, president of the American Association of Commercial Executives, and E. W. McCullough, secretary of the National Implement and Vehicle association. Paul T. Cherington told of Harvard university's course for the training of commercial secretaries.

Tomorrow is expected to be the most important day of the convention. Men of much business experience will discuss trust regulation bills pending in congress. There will be eight speakers, including Secretary Redfield, of the department of commerce, and President VanHise, of the University of Wisconsin.

EDITOR OLDER ACCUSED OF CONDUCTING LOTTERY

Stockton, Cal., February 11.—Complaints asking for the arrest of Fremont Older, editor of The San Francisco Bulletin, who took a leading part in the prosecution of Abe Ruef, the former San Francisco boss, now in San Quentin prison, and R. A. Crothers, publisher of The Bulletin, were issued today by the district attorney, charging them with conducting a lottery through the columns of newspapers. Under the penal code the charge is a misdemeanor.

San Francisco, February 11.—At the office of The Bulletin, edited by Fremont Older, against whom a complaint was filed today in Stockton, Cal., charging him with conducting a lottery through the columns of the newspaper, it was said that Mr. Older was in Washington. R. A. Crothers, also named in the complaint, was uncommunicative.

Certain newspapers here have published the prize winning numbers announced weekly by lotteries. The officials have been endeavoring to exclude all copies containing these lists from the United States mails.

$5,000,000 INCREASE IN POSTAL MEASURE

Washington, February 11.—Nearly $5,000,000 had been added to the total of the postoffice appropriation bill as it passed the house when the senate committee today completed its work on the measure. It carriers $310,000,000, the largest amount ever appropriated for postal purposes.

Maximum salaries for rural mail carriers would be increased under the bill to $1,200, the total increase for this purpose amounting to $4,350,000. An increase of $1,000,000 was added to the house appropriation for railway mail service to meet the demands of the parcel post. No increase in second-class mail rates is provided for in the bill.

CONTROL IS PROPOSED FOR PRIVATE BANKERS

New York, February 11.—The Vantuyl legislative commission to revise the state banking laws made public today the draft of a proposed law to regulate private bankers. The law would put private bankers under the control of the state superintendent of banks and compel them to turn over to him as security against the funds of their depositors registered bonds and stocks of the same class as savings banks are required to give, and to the amount of 20 per cent of their total deposits.

The term "private banker" is defined as including any individual, partnership or incorporated association engaged in the business of receiving deposits, money for transmission, discounting notes, drafts or other evidences of debt, and in buying and selling coin or bullion.

This definition apparently includes the large Wall street private banking concerns like J. P. Morgan & Co., as well as express companies doing a money order business.

MAY TRY ANTI-SALOONIST ON CHARGE OF CONTEMPT

Stubbs Criticised Grand Jury for Refusing to Indict Liquor Men.

Savannah, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—That the grand jury may move to have W. B. Stubbs, head of the anti-saloon movement in Savannah, tried for contempt, because of his criticism of the action of that body in refusing to return bills against liquor dealers, was indicated by developments today.

In a statement this morning, Mr. Stubbs said: "It is to be hoped that for the good name of our state and county the minority of the grand jury will make a report stating their position toward law enforcement. If the majority of the grand jury think by this action to suppress the demand for law enforcement in Savannah, I predict they will be disappointed."

Mr. Stubbs further said that the grand jury, in order to be consistent, should have indicted for perjury several witnesses who testified at the investigation.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel, Pills, Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

BAD OPERATION AVOIDED

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement.

Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

MISS ELVYN TO SING.

Appears With Philharmonic Orchestra March 5.

Miss Myrtle Elvyn will sing with the Atlanta Philharmonic orchestra at the Atlanta theater, March 5.

Miss Elvyn's appearance will be under the auspices of the Atlanta Musical association, and the orchestra will be under the direction of Mortimer Wilson, whom a writer in The Musical Courier described as "a director and composer of the very highest ability."

Musical circles agree that this will be an evening of rare entertainment. Miss Elvyn, a Texas girl, has won the plaudits of musicians all over Europe and America. She comes here from recent triumphs in Germany and in the northern and eastern cities of the United States.

Felix Borowski, a famous musical critic of Chicago, says of Miss Elvyn: "We have never been presented with technique of such crystalline clarity as that which Miss Elvyn put in Saint-Saens' caprice of Glucks' 'Alceste.'"

"She plays as she looks, beautifully, without affectation and with artistic intelligence," writes the musical critic of The Chicago Tribune.

PROGRAM IS PREPARED FOR VALENTINE SUNDAY

The first program of its kind ever performed in Atlanta has been arranged for next Sunday morning at the Central Baptist Sunday school, when Valentine Sunday will be observed. The school, of which J. Mansfield has been elected master of ceremonies. The program will begin at 9:30 o'clock and continue until 11 o'clock. Each child will be given a valentine. All church members are expected to be present. Outsiders are cordially invited.

Ovation Given Mme. Melba And Fine Concert Company

Mme. Melba may be said to have achieved last night the impossible in Atlanta; that is, the drawing of a concert audience. But as is always the case, once attracted, Atlanta people are appreciative, and the diva, accustomed as she is to ovations, must have been satisfied with her reception.

There is nothing like the mellow beauty of her voice and that radiance of personality, that resplendent presence, which one associates with one's ideal of a great singer, is as much Melba's as the rare timbre, the cloying sweetness of her voice.

She had surrounded herself with an excellent company; a provision which could detract not at all from her own brilliance of effect and which sent her audience away with the memory of the perfectly rounded evening.

In the "Mad Scene" (with cuts) from "Lucia," and the "Jewel Song," from "Faust," she presented the perfect crystalization of tone—ebullitions as easy as bird notes, but more certain, and sparkling with the light of the artist spirit. Vocalization at its height of display was revealed in the "Mad Scene" against an equally elaborate flute obligato, the flute bringing out also the greater sweetness of the voice, clear as the flute, but mellow like violin tones.

Tosti's "Goodby," sang as an encore, Mme. Melba might well adopt as her own, because no other voice can so carry its long sustained pathos, and the different pathos of Verdi's "Ave Maria," from "Othello," and "Addio," from "La Boheme," she translated with a similar exquisite sympathy.

"Magdalen at Michael's Gate," by Liza Lehmann, was interesting in that it was written for Mme. Melba's voice, but the preponderance of recitative style over the melodic suited it less to the diva's best manner than her coloratura selections.

The work of Edmund Burke, baritone, would in itself have furnished an evening of rare pleasure. Marcel Moyse is a flutist of highest attainment, and the piano accompaniments of Gabriel Lapierre were a self-effacing feature, but a perfect complement to the work of each soloist.

LOUISE DOOLY.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY SEEKS TO REORGANIZE

An effort will be made in the near future to effect a thorough reorganization of the progressive party in this state, and letters are now being sent out by Dean E. Ryman, secretary of the Georgia state progressive committee, with the object of interesting voters in the plan to put forth a state ticket.

The letter states that William J. Tilson, chairman of the Georgia state progressive committee, plans calling a convention to take place in Macon early in March. The letter urges the recipients to state whether they would attend such a convention.

Bible Study Class.

A most interesting Bible study class is being conducted by Mrs. T R. Kendall, of Gainesville, Ga., at St. Paul's church, corner of Grant and Sydney streets, the second Thursday morning of each month at 10 o'clock. All those interested in Bible study are invited to attend.

BRYAN MAY ATTEND BIBLE CONFERENCE

Promises to Come to Atlanta if Official Business Does Not Prevent.

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan will come to Atlanta to attend and speak at the Atlanta Bible conference, if official engagements do not interfere.

Mr. Bryan is listed as one of the regular Bible conference speakers, but as official business might at any time interfere with his conference engagements, the conference does not make definite announcement of his appearance until he is in a position to say that he can come. However, if it is possible for him to do so, Mr Bryan has promised to come to Atlanta for the conference. He made one of the principal addresses at the opening of the Midwinter Bible conference, in Washington, and will speak at other sessions there as he has opportunity

That the Bible is way ahead of the world's "six best sellers," is the statement of Rev G. Campbell Morgan, of London, who will be one of the leading speakers of the Atlanta conference. Dr. Morgan told how thousands of Bibles had been recently shipped to China where they will not be given away, but sold to the Chinese; "and," he remarked, "you know a Chinaman doesn't buy anything unless he feels he is getting value received."

All of the railroads in the southeastern territory, south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi, have granted reduced rates for the Atlanta conference. The fare for this occasion, March 1 to 8, will be one and one-half fares plus 50 cents for the round trip

A good many inquiries are already being received regarding the conference, and full information regarding the conference or other matters is gladly furnished to any out-of-town inquirers by Miss G A. Maddox, 78 Luckie street.

STATE BOARD HAS RAISED $6,000 FOR NEW HOSPITAL

The state board of the Georgia Baptists has begun work canvassing funds for the $100,000 they promised to raise from the Baptist churches over the state for the Greater Georgia Baptist hospital, if the Baptists of the Atlanta association would raise an equal amount.

Though the board has just begun its work, already they have subscriptions on hand exceeding $6,000. While not so large as the $50,000 that has been raised in the past few weeks by the Atlanta churches, this is a good beginning for the board, and is encouraging at the start.

Chairman F. J. Cooledge, Sr., who has charge of the campaign for the hospital in the city, states that they expect to wind up their campaign in the course of a week or so.

G. P. A. Hale in Atlanta.

J. C. Hale, general passenger agent of the Central of Georgia, is in Atlanta for a few days the guest of the Winecoff hotel. His home is Savannah, Ga., and he is one of the best-known railroad men in the state. He is here on business matters, relating to the road.

"Shorty" Harper Is Coming, So Is "Moonshiner" Bob; They Are Fiddling Pals

"Shorty" Harper, of Monroe, and "Moonshiner Bob" Young, of Walton county, are coming to the Old-Time Fiddlers' convention, which opens next Wednesday night at the Auditorium, and the news will make glad the hearts of hundreds who heard the quaint pair at the contest last spring.

Everybody who heard the fiddlers, remember "Shorty," the sawed-off, one-gallused countryman, who danced as he fiddled and occasionally burst into song. "Moonshiner Bob" is of more quiet disposition, but he makes his home-made fiddle sing songs of other days, as though it had a human voice. The pair are old cronies. "Shorty" has just written to the management of the convention that he and Bob will drive over in a buckboard and be here for all four nights.

The committee of the Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. William McCarthy, Mrs. Lollie Bell Wylie, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith and Mrs. Charles Turner, are arranging several society girl stunts for the convention, including an old-fashioned Virginia reel, danced to the music of a country orchestra. The Atlanta chaper of the United Daughters of the Confederacy expects to win a neat sum by the convention.

CHARGE AGAINST NURSE DISMISSED BY ROSSER

Judge Luther Rosser, Jr., of the municipal court, dismissed a warrant against Miss E. O. Skelton, of the Red Cross hospital, on Wednesday charging cheating and swindling, after the evidence in the case had been heard.

The criminal charge was brought against Miss Skelton by G. B. Gatlin, who alleged that Miss Skelton misrepresented certain payments on life insurance policies held by her and on which she secured $200 in cash from Gatlin.

Judge Rosser held that there had been no intent to defraud and the case was dismissed.

JONES IS ACQUITTED; ARREST WAS A MISTAKE

Showing the courts of Macon that he was the legal owner of a ring and locket, for the disposition of which he was arrested in Macon a short time ago, P. B. Jones, son of Policeman W. R. Jones, of the Atlanta department, was acquitted in Macon Tuesday, after a short trial.

He returned to Atlanta yesterday. The friends of Mr. Jones were confident that a mistake had been made, and their confidence has been fully justified by the facts in the case.

SAYS BLASTING CAUSED PLASTERING TO FALL

Mrs. M. T. Elliott filed suit on Wednesday against the Georgia Railway and Power company, charging that the constant blasting by the company empolyees near her home on Proctor creek, has caused plaster to fall from the walls and endanger the lives of her family. Mrs. Elliott sues for $5,000 damages and asks an injunction against the power company from operating near her residence. Judge Bell set the hearing for the injunction for March 20.

National League Protects Evers' Contract With Cubs; Doves Claim Him in Trade

New York, February 11.—The baseball status of Johnny Evers, successor to Frank Chance, as manager of the Chicago National League club, is one of the mysteries of organized baseball tonight. Evers is inclined to believe he is a free agent; Charlie W. Murphy, of the Cubs, declares he is the property of the Boston Nationals, and the National league is on record as acting in the capacity of guardian to the peppery second baseman.

This complicated situation developed as the result of Murphy's action in hiring Henry O'Day as manager of the Cubs before he legally released Evers from the same position.

At a special meeting of the board of directors and the National league, as a whole, that body of magnates decided that Evers had not resigned, as contended by Murphy, and that his five-year contract as manager and player was valid and binding. The league further agreed to take over all rights and responsibilities under the contract, thus helping Murphy out of an embarrassing position.

Doves Made Trade.

The Boston club immediately entered into a contract wtih Murphy to trade Infielder W. J. Sweeney and Pitcher "Hub" Purdue for Evers, but the latter declared he would not be a party to the contract. He insisted that unless arrangements acceptable to him were made he would sign with the Federals, who, he said, had made him a liberal proposition for three years of play, including a cash bonus to be delivered on the signing of a contract.

Evers declared he had no grievance against the Boston club or the National league, as a whole, and, in fact, told President James E. Gaffney, of the Bostons, that he would rather play with that team than the Federals. His refusal to be a party to the deal, he declared, was because Murphy, against whom he is extremely bitter, would get two valuable players, thus profiting by the move, something that Evers is determined he shall not do.

The Boston club expressed its willingness to assume the provisions of Evers' two contracts, which call for a total payment of $10,000 a year, with four years yet to run. As player he received $6,000 from the Chicago club and $4,000 additional as manager.

Tinker After Evers.

To further complicate matters, Joseph Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals and former teammate of Evers, is speeding to this city to try to induce Evers to sign with the Federals. Baseball lawyers contend that Evers is not a free agent, whereupon the Federal magnates say they stand willing to pay big money for Evers' signature to a contract and supply much more cash if needed to fight the case through all the courts of the country.

In addition, the officers of the Brooklyn club say Murphy tried to obtain an offer from that club, after he had agreed to turn Evers over to Boston with the sanction of the league as a whole.

Evers said he had received neither verbal nor written announcement from Murphy that he no longer was manager of the Cubs, and Murphy admitted at the meeting that he had overlooked the necessary formality of giving Evers his ten-day notice of release before signing O'Day as his new, or second manager.

After the meeting of magnates had adjourned, Evers was surrounded by leading club owners who congratulated him upon the fact that he had been upheld and guaranteed his salary by the league, and urged him to be reasonable and accept the position under Manager Stallings, of the Boston club.

Evers Is Firm.

Evers remained firm, and stated just before leaving the hotel that he would not agree to anything until he had consulted the best legal authorities. His parting shot was that the magnates had agreed not to force him into any deal or position which was disagreeable to him, and that the idea of Murphy benefiting in any way was enough to make him jump to the Federals.

In the midst of this hubbub the American league held its schedule meeting a few blocks away. The 1914 schedule was adopted and it was agreed that while the request of the class AA clubs for the elimination of the draft could not be granted, the players purchased this year from these clubs shall be permitted to finish the entire season with their present clubs.

The Federal league was discussed and a difinite plan of action evolved against inroads on the American league. No explanation was made regarding this plan, which will be laid before the national commission by President Ban Johnson tomorrow.

Player Agreement.

At this meeting some concerted campaign is expected to be evolved as well as other matters of importance, including the signing of the final agreement with the Baseball Players' fraternity, which will be represented by President David L. Fultz, who today denied that either the fraternity or he, as its representative, was taking sides or lending influence to either organized baseball or the Federal league in the struggle now in progress.

The discussion of the Evers case by the National league occupied the greater part of a protracted session, but many other important matters were passed on. The committee of three appointed for interleague business was discharged and in future matters calling for action between leagues will be entrusted to the national commission. This includes any action in dealing with the Federal league or any other organization outside of organized baseball.

It was agreed that in future there should be no joint occupancy of major league grounds by major league clubs except in cases of extreme emergency, and then only with the approval of the clubs interested, as well as the majority of the clubs of both the National and American leagues. This will not interfere with the New York National and American teams playing out their 1914 schedule at the Polo grounds, as their contract runs to the close of this year's playing season.

The secretary was instructed to request the national commission to hand over a sum amounting to nearly $20,000, which is 25 per cent of the New York club's profits from the last world's series, and which is to be divided among other clubs of the league.

Class AA Drafts.

The request of Class AA leagues for exemption from the draft rule was refused, but this action was taken through the national commission.

There will be another session of the board of directors and of the league itself tomorrow.

After Evers left the National league meeting tonight he said he believed he was entitled personally to any consideration or benefit the Chicago club should gain if he was sent to any other club. Secretary John Heydler, of the league, declared the league had not agreed to this; that it believed, in all fairness to Evers, that he should be guaranteed against any loss financially by being deposed as manager, but that that in no sense could he be considered a free agent.

At a meeting of the board of arbitration of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, the Eastern association's objection to the use of the name Eastern league by the New York and New Jersey league was acted upon and the objection was sustained.

Chance Will Have to Bid High For Evers' Services

Los Angeles, Cal., February 11.—Frank Chance, former manager of the Chicago National league club, now manager of the New York Yankees, took occasion today in declaring that he was in the field for Johnny Evers, his successor as manager of the Cubs, let out yesterday by President Murphy, to denounce the actions of the Chicago magnate. Murphy he declared, was a menace to organized baseball. Relative to Evers, Chance said:

"I don't care what the Federal league offers, I'll pay more. Evers is a great ball player. I played with him and know, and I'm sure he will play good ball for the New York Americans."

Chance made it plain, however, that his determination to get Evers depended on whether or not the National Baseball commission declared the ex-Cub manager a free agent and thus able to negotiate for another place.

Murphy Roasted.

"Murphy" asserted Chance, reverting to his former employer, "has played politics in the National league and given the Federals a chance to get a foothold. I don't think the Federals have a chance to succeed for there is no call for a third league. Had it not been for Murphy there would have been no Federal league."

Advertising to his own experience as manager of the Cubs, Chance continued:

"No man with red blood in his veins can work for Murphy. He treats ball players as slaves. Some people thought I was crazy when I threw up my place and sold the stock I owned in the Chicago club, but I am sure they do not think so now.

"I was able to continue with the Cubs as long as I did because I had a side contract, apart from my contract as a player, to manage the team, and by the terms of this contract Murphy had no control whatever over the team. He could not have come into the clubhouse without my consent under the terms of that manager contract. If it had not been for that Murphy would have disrupted the organization and we never would have had a championship team.

Evers' Case.

"Let me give an instance. Evers was injured some three years ago in an accident. He was unable to play much the following season. Murphy wanted to dock him—take his salary away. I would not permit it.

"Evers," Chance went on, "was really deposed last autumn when Murphy announced before he went to Europe that Johnny on longer would have any power to buy, sell or trade players. That reduced Evers to the position of the field captain.

"Of course New York wants Evers I don't care what the president of the Chicago Federals says about paying $5,000 more than the best organized baseball offer for him. We will pay more. I don't care how much it is."

JOHNSON FRAUD ,CHARGES FALSE, SAYS GRAND JURY

Chicago, February 11.—The federal grand jury investigation of charges connecting government officials with the flight of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, to France, concluded today with the announcement from the assistant district attorney in charge of the jury that the charges had not been substantiated.

For days the names of federal officials had been referred to as having profited in various ways from the munificence of Johnson. Many witnesses were heard by the jurors before the inqury was closed.

"The action of the jury is a complete vindication of Charles F. Dewoody, former local head of the department of justice, and of Harry A. Parkin, assistant district attorney, as well as other federal officials who have been mentioned in stories of scandal," said David Stansbury, assistant district attorney.

Trent and Superior Win In Columbia's Boxing; Third Bout Was a Draw

Atlanta fight fans saw three rattling good bouts at the Columbia theater last night and but for "Happy" Trent's wicked left which he planted against a tender spot on Kid Gold's jaw in the second round, they would have been treated to one of the best fight shows pulled off hereabouts in many days.

It was fight or get out of the ring. In the opener, Jockey Lee and Kid York essayed to grab off a little easy money, but Referee Mike Saul got wise to the fact that the kids were stalling and yanked them out of the ring. Rather than disappoint the fans, the management sent Kid Shepard and Young Williams in to furnish the entertainment Lee et als were under contract to furnish. The youngsters fought four fierce rounds, and the bout was declared a draw.

By far the best scrap of the evening was put up by Kid Goldman and Kid Superior. Goldman is a newcomer in Atlanta's fistic firmament, but he demonstrated to the fans that he is capable of taking care of himself in a slug fest with any kid his weight. Referee Saul gave Superior the decision over Goldman, and left the spectators in doubt as to how in the world he ever arrived at such a decision. Both boys scrapped every minute they were in the ring and a draw would have pleased the fans.

The main bout was between Happy Trent of Atlanta, and Kid Gold, a New Yorker. The happy person toyed with the Goldsmith for one round, and then slammed his left to the jaw and Gold took a nap.

New York, February 11.—Several new rules relating to the boxing situation have been adopted by the New York State Athletic commission. One prohibits the introduction of any fighters in the ring except the actual contestants. So-called coming champions under this rule will not have the chance to appear before fight audiences in connection with bouts. The rule goes into effect forthwith.

When contract disputes are brought before the commission for settlement, the contracts must be produced hereafter if the body is to take any action.

The commission has not yet decided whether the number of ten-round bouts on one night at an individual club shall be cut down from three to one.

Barely 21 years old, Marston has achieved distinction by leading the field in the qualifying round of the Foxhills tournament last June and winning the chief cup in the tournament at Essex county later in the season. A Cracker a Day for Fans

4. EDWARD M. WALSH.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth of a series of daily adticles that will be carried in The Constitution, introducing to Atlanta fandom the men who will try for ositions on the 1914 team. The comlete record, history and photo of each of the thirty candidates will be printed in this form.

EDWARD M. WALSH.

The young semi-professional infielder from the Charley Grapewin Theatrical company ball team who is going to try-out for a position with the Crackers this season.

Edward Michael Walsh, of Long Branch, N. J., a brother of James Edward Walsh, whose history was printed in Wednesday's Constitution, is a candidate for an infield position on the 1914 Crackers.

Ed, like his brother Jim, was signed by Manager Smith, upon the recommendation of Mike Donlin, the famous actor-ballplayer.

Ed first saw the light of day at Long Branch, N. J., where he is now living on July 13, 1892, and will be 21 years of age this July. He weighs 150 pounds and is 5 feet 10 inches tall.

He has been in semi-professional baseball for the past five years. During the seasons of 1909-1910 and 1911 he was with the National Athletic club at Long Branch and during the seasons of 1912 and 1914 he was with the Grapewin stars.

It was as a member of the Charley Grapewin Theatrical company, of which Donlin was also a member that Donlin first met the young infielder. Grapewin being a baseball fan, organized a ball club of the members of his company and they were considered one of the most formidable semi-pro. teams in the country.

Young Walsh is a right-handed batter and thrower. With the Grapewin Stars last season he was in fifty games, being at bat 200 times, scoring fifty-eight runs and making sixty-six hits for a batting average of .330. He handled seventy-five put-outs, seventeen assists and twenty-five errors, for an average of .900.

Donlin touts the young Walsh very highly and says that he believes that he will, with a little experience, make any of the class A teams a good man.

WORLD'S TOURISTS VISIT THE VATICAN

Mgr. O'Hern Introduced Party to the Pope—Comiskey Is Much Better.

Rome, February 11.—Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago club of the American Baseball league, as well enough today to go with the members of the American baseball teams to the vatican, where the party was received by the pope. Dr. John Edward Jones, American consul general at Genoa, who has attended Mr. Comiskey during his illness, accompanied the party, which comprised seventy people.

The American visitors were introduced to his holiness by Monsignor Charles A. O'Hern, vice rector of the American college in Rome, who explained the national interest taken in baseball in the United States.

The pope greeted the visitors with great cordiality. He thanked them for their visit and, in a short address, praised the practice of athletic sports for the strengthening of the body and, at the same time, the practice of religion to strengthen the soul. He then imparted to all the apostolic benediction.

The members of the teams were then photographed in the court of San Damaso. Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state, afterward received the visitors. The teams played no game today because of bad weather.

Immediately after the audience at the vatican Mr. Comiskey went with Dr. John E. Jones and Professor Giuseppe Bastianelli to a medical institute, where he was examined by Professor Ulderico De Luca with the aid of X-rays.

The X-ray examination indicated that there was nothing serious in the condition of Mr. Comiskey.

The performances of German aviators this year have so greatly surpassed expectations that the committee of the national aviation fund announced today that the fund of $200,000 assigned for the payment of premiums to aviators making long endurance flights practically had been exhausted and consequently no further premiums can be paid. The committee declares:

"Our aim has been attained as France, which was far ahead of Germany in aviation when the fund was raised, has now been put into the background."

FEDS' NEW YORK VISIT VERY SATISFACTORY

Chicago, February 11.—The news that the visit of the Federal league heads to New York was "more than satisfactory" was received today by Secretary Lloyd Rickart from President Gilmore over the long-distance telephone.

Rickart declared he knew nothing of the purpose of the trip made by Gilmore, Charles Weeghman and William M. Walker, but said he believed the president's optimistic report referred to a possible deal with Johnny Evers, deposed manager of the Cubs.

That the Federal league would make every effort to get Evers was generally believed here, and information came from New York that Weeghman came fered to outbid by $5,000 any salary proffered him, if Evers' freedom to sign with the outlaw organization could be assured.

In response to a telephonic message from Weeghman, Manager Joe Tinker, of the local club, left for New York late today.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ADOPTS SCHEDULE

Boston, New York, Chicago and Detroit Get Opening Dates, April 14.

Chicago, February 11.—American league schedule makers, who announced tonight their program for the coming season, awarded to Boston, New York, Chicago and Detroit the opening games set for Tuesday, April 14.

The only four conflicting dates scheduled with the National league will be played in Chicago on Sundays. In the old days, conflicts were more frequent, and took place in St. Louis as well as Chicago, but the removal of the Sunday ball ban in Detroit and Cleveland has made is possible to lessen them.

The season closes three days earlier in the west section than in the east. Sunday, October 4, sees the end of the former division. The last games in the east are to be played October 7.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AEROPLANE FLIGHT IS IMPRACTICABLE

Cincinnati, February 11.—"A trans-Atlantic trip in an aeroplane at the present time is impracticable."

Thus Orville Wright, one of the pioneer builders of "heavier than air" machines, answered the question here today as to whether he would enter the lists with other aviators who declare they will try a trip across the Atlantic ocean in their machines.

"Under no circumstances will the engines hold out under the continuous strain of such a journey," continued Mr. Wright "I don't doubt that the trip could be made with ease if one or two resting places were provided on the way. But, of course, this is not the plan. Efforts to cover the same distance on land have failed."

Mercer Basketball Star Bites Tongue in Game; Nine Stitches Required

L. D. Grice, a Mercer student, while playing in a basketball game at the Mercer gym last Friday night, suffered two accidents.

An elbow blow cut his lip through to the bone, requiring several stitches.

Later in the same game another elbow blow on the chin caused him to bite his tongue in two, half way across, a few inches from the tip. At the hospital nine stitches were required for this wound.

The tongue swelled, filling the mouth almost completely. He slept none for fifty-four hours and ate none for several days. Liquid food only now. Lost eighteen pounds in weight first four days. Has been unable to converse, but his physician states he will be able to speak by Saturday, and completely well in a few days.

Grice is a near-giant, being six feet; weighs 230 pounds and played guard on the Mercer football team.

TRADING WAS QUIET IN COTTON MARKET

Cables Were Lower Than Due, and This Caused Decline at the Opening--Market Closed Steady.

New York, February 11.—Trading was very quiet in cotton today, but prices ruled steady on a scattering demand, which was thought to be chiefly in the way of covering for over tomorrow's adjournment. The close was steady and from 5 to 7 points net higher.

Cables were a little lower than due and the local market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points in consequence. There was very little cotton for sale, however, while there appeared to be a moderate demand from shorts, who were probably the more disposed to cover, as Liverpool and New Orleans will remain open tomorrow. There was also some buying by houses with Liverpool connections, supposedly in the way of undoing straddles, and prices soon steadied up to about the closing figures of last night. Demand became a little more active later, owing to the failure of any important selling orders to appear around the ring, and active months sold 6 to 8 points net higher in the late trading. Last prices were within a point or two of the best.

Notwithstanding yesterday's weakness, March was relatively steady today, increasing its premium over May to about 29 points.

A somewhat more bullish idea of week-end figures may have helped the tone somewhat during the afternoon. Today's interior movement showed relatively heavy shipments, while large export clearances brought the total so far this season up to a shade over last year's figures for the first time in two months. At one time last December exports were about 200,000 bales behind last year.

There was nothing in the southern news or in the trading here to indicate any material change in the spot situation.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 11.—Opening lower on poor cables the market today assumed a very steady undertone and went to a small net advance, which in the afternoon was widened to nine to ten points on the old crop months. The close was steady at a net gain for the day of five to eight points, the whole list considered.

Short covering was the main support of the day. Much of the covering appeared to be due to the fact that New York will be closed tomorrow in observance of Lincoln's birthday. First prices were off two to three points in sympathy with lower cables than due but the decline hardly lasted longer than the opening call.

By some brokers it was considered that a part of the short covering was due to reports from Texas claiming that the land was too dry and hard to plow in several important cotton-raising counties.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 11.—The Liverpool market was weaker today, but our market slowly improved from the opening, closing steady 6 to 7 points higher on a local demand before the holiday. The continent was a buyer of the new crops today. So widespread is the wave of pessimism that it is difficult to hold to a view that we have seen the lowest point for some time to come, and yet the attitude of the market and the improvement in Manchester would cause close observers to look at the situation with care. We are all confused with the million bales of linters and machine-made cotton, which is upsetting everybody. In the meantime the exports of cloths from Great Britain are 40,000,000 yards during January in excess of last season. If we could only see some way that the million men out of work in this country could be employed we think the wave of depression would disappear.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, February 11.—There was enough short covering today to cause a firm feeling in a dull market. New York will be closed tomorrow, but Liverpool and New Orleans will be open. The fact that the evening-up caused an advance seemed to point to an oversold market. The close was steady with the active months 5 to 6 points.

Liverpool is due to come 3½ to 4 points up.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, February 11.—Today's cotton market was quiet with only a narrow price range. Outside business was small and without significance, operations being about equally divided as to selling and buying. Exports for the day were heavy, bringing the season's total above last year's. The market seems to be awaiting some fresh incentive for operations and this is likely to be found in a revival of the spot demand for March commitments.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, February 11.—Cotton seed oil declined slightly early under scattered liquidation on the weakness in lard, but later became steadier on commisson house buying and light pit offerings. Closing prices were 1 to 2 points net lower. Sales, 10,500 barrels.

Coffee.

New York, February 11.—Lower French cables and reports that cost and freight offers were easier caused scattered selling in coffee this morning. First prices were unchanged to 2 lower and active months sold off another point or two during the early trading but then steadied on covering and smaller Sao Paulo receipts. The close was steady, net unchanged to 3 lower. Sales, 41,000.

Spot steady; Rio No. 7, 9½; Santos No. 4, 12¾.

Mild coffee dull; Cordova, 13@16, nominal. Havre, ¼ to 6 franc lower. Hamburg, unchanged to ¼ pfennig lower. Rio, unchanged. Santos spots 50 reis higher; 4s, 5$750; 7s, 5$050.

Brazilian receipts, 27,000.

London Stock Market.

London, February 11.—The stock market was quiet today awaiting developments in the home rule controversy, but the tone was rather better at the close on the belief that the Ulster question will be settled at the last hour. Rubber and shipping shares were good features.

American securities were quiet with only fractional changes. Canadian Pacific lost ¾ during the forenoon, but later regained most of the decline. The rest of the list held within a small fraction of parity and closed quiet.

Foreign Finances.

London, February 11.—Consols for money, 76½; for account, 76 3-16. Bar silver steady at 26 9-16d. Money, ¾@1. Short and three months' bills, 1 13-16@1⅞.

Rice.

New Orleans, February 11.—Rough Honduras rice steady, Japan being easier, clean Honduras strong, Japan steady. Quote: Rough Honduras, 2.00@4.90; Japan, 2½@3.35; clean Honduras, 4½@6; Japan, 2½@3⅝. Receipts: Rough, 5,036; clean, 319; millers, 4,821. Sales: 64 sacks rough Honduras at 1.50@4.40; 1,561 pockets clean Honduras at 2@5⅝; 722 pockets Japan at 2⅛@2 13-16.

New York, February 11.—Dan Talmage Sons say that the spirit of optimism still prevails throughout the business community though the outlook was anything but reassuring a month ago. Consumers have been going slow in buying for their current requirements, but there is more disposition apparent to broaden out in purchases. At the same time the trade at large continues to operate on a conservative basis, feeling strongly the unwisdom of too great expansion for awhile yet. In general, however, the state of trade is regarded as in a healthier condition than for some considerable time back.

In view of the general improvement the market holds strong for all grades of Honduras, and under a decidedly more active movement prices are steadily climbing up. The output of Japan during the past two or three weeks has been quite phenomenal, though expected, on account of the easier and very reasonable prices quoted, making it the best proposition above every other kind of rice offering. High-class Honduras is being rapidly cleaned up and commands full figures though prices on all grades are toned up. Foreigns still move slow and appear to have lost the attraction which they held at the opening of the season in October-November.

At the south, along the Atlantic coast, the reports are that the demand has slowed oown and conditions devoid of interest. At New Orleans, the output continues active and the mills are having no trouble in keeping well cleaned up, and prices rule strong at advancing values. In the interior, southwest Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, advices are to the effect that the mills have not been able to force any weakness in the rough market and are accepting the situation. There are, however, a number of mills as yet unable to secure enough rough, on account of the high prices, to turn their wheels with profit.

Cables and correspondence from abroad note rough rice market easier; "spot cleaned," steady; "forward Burma," weaker; Siam, quiet; Saigon, neglected.

SELLING WHEAT OVER THE HOLIDAY

This Kept Off Advance, Which Would Have Occurred on Account of Export Sales.

Chicago, February 11.—Selling by holders, who wished to avoid an open risk during the holiday tomorrow, counter-balanced in the wheat market today the effect of a good export call and of a threatened cold wave. The market closed easy at the same as last night to ⅛c up. Other staples all showed a net decline—corn ¼@⅜ to ⅝, oats 1-16, and provisions 2½ to 10.

Export buying included both winter and spring wheat and took place here and in Kansas and at Duluth, as well as along the seaboard. Less talk was heard in regard to cash wheat being purchased to arrive in Chicago from Nebraska. Instead, there were dispatches from that state and from Kansas expressing fear that another severe drop in temperature would cause considerable damage to the growing crop. Bulls had further encouragement by reason of assertions that northwestern millers would be unable soon to obtain sufficient supplies without going outside of the Dakotas and Minnesota. Throughout virtually the entire day prices held slightly above last night's level. Most of the selling to prepare for the holiday was withheld until just before the close.

Corn weakened under an increase of country offerings and because of continued slowness of shipping demand. Reports of a partial failure of Argentine later sown crop helped to prevent a more decided setback.

Oats were depressed by the heaviness of corn and by incredulity about supposed export sales of Canadian oats at Buffalo.

In the provision crowd, free selling by stock yard interests more than offset whatever bullishness might have resulted from an early advance in hogs. Owners seemed to be especially determined to get rid of lard.

GAINS IN STOCKS LOST LATE IN DAY

General Advance Was Made in the Early Session, But Was Not Maintained. Bonds Irregular.

New York, February 11.—The level of stock market quotations was not altered appreciably by today's trading. Speculation lacked any suggestion of animation and the market apparently had settled down for a period of dullness. With a holiday at hand, and in the absence of new incentives for taking a position one way or the other, professional traders were inclined to contract their operations. Early in the day there was a general advance, which reached fair proportions in some cases, but in the late session gains were scaled down until at the close net changes in most cases were of no significance

By contrast with yesterday, the undertone was better. The market was freed from the effects of heavy liquidation in a few stocks, which have been conspicuously weak recently, although late in the day there was a renewal of selling in New York Central, which dropped below 89. Rock Island issues were steady and Mercantile marine securities made up part of their severe losses of the week. The extensive foreign selling, particularly from Amsterdam, which affected the market yesterday, was suspended. London traded in less than 10,000 shares here, closely divided between purchases and sales.

The only event of the day, on which a speculative movement might have been based, was passed by almost unnoticed. Southern Pacific was not affected by fixing of the government's suit to compel it to relinquish control of Central Pacific. At the opening, the stock moved off, its heaviness being ascribed to Washington reports that the suit would be filed, but the fractional loss was recovered before word came of the action in court.

Southern Pacific collateral bonds moved up strongly for a time, being purchased with the idea that, should the government win its case, Southern Pacific would be compelled to retire the bonds at par, in order to free the Central Pacific stock which is security for the bonds.

Continued improvement in the iron and steel industry was reported in the weekly trade reviews, corroborating the impression gained from United States Steel's monthly statement. The trend of business conditions indicates maintenance of the buying volume of recent weeks, which, it was thought, might prove to be merely a temporary spurt.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,951,000 Panama threes, registered, advanced 1-4, and the coupon threes, 1-2, on call.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The real estate sensation and, in fact, the big deal of the year in Atlanta downtown frontage was registered Wednesday when the announcement was made that the building and grounds at 91-93 Peachtree street, covering a location 33 by 100 feet, had sold for $175,000, which figures at the rate of $5,300 per front foot. The deal is said to have been made in cash.

The Joseph B. Whitehead estate was the purchaser. The Realty company, of which Edward Alfriend is president, sold the property.

The sale is but one of a number of big Peachtree sales made by Mr. Alfriend and the rumor is extant that the deal will shortly be followed by others,

CIVIL WAR IS SEEN BEHIND HOME RULE

Bonar Law Warns the Commons That Ulster Will Fight—Anti-Home Rule Amendment Is Defeated.

London, February 11.—Home rule for Ireland again was the subject of paramount interest in the house of commons today. Sir Edward Carson, Ulster unionist leader; David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer; Sir John Simon, attorney general; John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, and Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, all made fervent speeches, and at the conclusion of the debate the amendment to the reply to the speech from the throne, moved yesterday by the unionist, Walter Hume Long, "that it would be disastrous for the house to proceed further with the government for Ireland bill until the measure had been submitted to the judgment of the country," was defeated by a vote of 333 to 255.

The result of the vote was received with loud opposition cheers and shouts of "resign!"

Bonar Law Fears Civil War.

John Redmond appeared anxious to meet the question from a broad viewpoint, with an earnest desire for a peaceful settlement. Mr. Bonar Law predicted civil war the moment home rule passed, but urged that the danger of civil war could be averted by leaving Ulster out of the home rule bill or by submitting the bill to the people.

If ever any people in the history of the world had the right to resist by force the imposition of a form of government they detested, said the opposition leader, the men of Ulster had that right In two ways could the danger of civil war be averted—by leaving Ulster out of the home rule bill, or by submitting the bill to the judgment of the people.

David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, said the next six weeks might see a complete change in the situation. When parliament was sitting and men were meeting face to face, something might well issue which would make a settlement much easier, he said.

The government was prepared, said the chancellor, to go to the extreme of concession compatible with the principles of the bill, but could not betray the majority of Irishmen who had put their trust in it.

No Compromise for Ulster.

Sir Edward Carson, head of the provisional government of Ulster, insisted that Ulster would accept no compromise which brought it under the rule of a Dublin parliament.

John Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader, replied that the exclusion of Ulster never could be the solution of the Irish question.

Sir Edward said he inferred from Premier Asquith's statement that the exclusion of Ulster from the operation of the home rule bill wouldn't conflict with the fundamental principles of the bill.

"There are only two ways of dealing with Ulster—coerce her or win her," said Sir Edward. "It is useless to talk about concession, which merely means reducing the proposed wrongs to Ulster to a minimum. John Redmond has never tried to win Ulster. He wants only her taxes."

Mr. Redmond hotly repudiated Sid Edward Carson's charge that he wanted Ulster's taxes.

Troops Will Fire, Says Beresford.

Lord Charles Beresford, addressing the Ulster Association of London tonight, said:

"If the imperial forces are ordered to fire on the Ulstermen, they must obey. But I decline to believe that the government will go to that extreme to force home rule on Ireland. If the government does it will be the first step towards the demoralization of the army and navy and will lead to the break-up of the empire."

OVER MONT BLANC AT HEIGHT OF 3 MILES

Aoeste, Department of Isere, France, February 11.—M. Parmelin, a young French aviator, today flew over Mont Blanc at a height of about three miles. He left Geneva, Switzerland, this morning, after waiting a week for a clear day. When he rose the weather was splendid, but his aeroplane plunged into a thick fog on the French side of the Alps.

WARSHIPS SHELLING REBELS OF ECUADOR

Washington, February 11.—Meager dispatches to the state department today from Esmeraldas, Ecuador, announced that this stronghold of the rebels was on fire. A belated message earlier in the day had told of a warning that the government fleet in the harbor would begin a bombardment last night, so it was taken for granted that the fire resulted from shells falling in the city.

The rebellion in Ecuador was started by Colonel Concha, follower and devoted friend of former President Alfaro, to avenge the tragic killing of Alfaro in the streets of Quito some months ago. Concha has had several battles with the government garrisons of the smaller interior towns, and later succeeded in taking the important coast town of Esmeraldas.

After a month's fruitless effort to retake the place by land attack, President Plaza decided to attack by sea and sent three warships for the task.

The United States now has no warship south of the equator. There are, however, no American interests known to be located at Esmeraldas.

To Fight Hog Cholera.

Washington, February 11.—An emergency appropriation of $500,000 to fight hog cholera and $100,000 for dourine, a horse disease, during the coming summer, was pressed up on congress today in a favorable report by Chairman Lever, of the house committee on agriculture. The committee calculated the losses from those diseases annually in this country at $70,000,000. The senate has passed a bill to appropriate $500,000 for hog cholera.

BROAD POWERS URGED FOR TRADE COMMISSION

Board Must Have Great Authority to Deal With Trusts, Witnesses Assert.

Washington, February 11.—While senators of the interstate commerce committee were conferring with President Wilson today on the anti-trust legislative program, progressive party leaders in and out of congress were explaining their views on the handling of the trust problem to house committees.

The conference at the white house, arranged at the request of Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, centered upon improvement of the interstate trade commission bill as drafted by the house judiciary subcommittee. Interest was added to the meeting by assurances of co-operation with the democrats by republican members of the committee. Senators Oliver and Lippitt participated in the discussion, having been urged by Chairman Newlands to draft amendments to trade commission bill which would act as a safeguard against unnecessary publicity concerning corporations innocent of any violations of law.

The committee plans to complete its revision of the bill next week. Provisions to insure investigation by the proposed trade commission by due process of law will be added to the bill, thus to prevent any possibility of appeal from decrees on account of the constitutional infringements.

For Powerful Trade Commission.

Herbert Knox Smith, former United States commissioner of corporations; William Draper Lewis, of Philadelphia, dean of the University of Pennsylvania, and Donald R. Richberg, of New York, who joined the progressive leaders in congress in drafting anti-trust and commerce regulation bills, were the chief witnesses before both the house interstate commerce and judiciary committees. They contended for an interstate trade commission with wider scope of authority than proposed by the Clayton bills, and for recognition of the necessity of a degree of concentration in business in the coming anti-trust legislation.

"We must allow a certain degree of concentration among corporations," said former Commissioner Smith. "There should be an automatic regulation of corporations, and the highways should be kept open for competition, but there should be no attempt to force them to compete against their will. We tried it in the Standard Oil case, for instance, and did not succeed.

Oil Monopoly Based on Pipe Lines.

"The oil monopoly now is not based on the concentrated control of the oil wells, the oil area, but because that Standard Oil company owns the pipe lines, the only means of getting the oil away from the wells."

Mr. Smith dwelt on his contention that a trade commission would be more effective in dealing with corporations than the department of justice or the courts.

BELL WOULD INCREASE RATES ON PERIODICALS

Georgian Member of House Committee Considering Second Class Mail Question.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 11.—(Special.) Representative Bell is deeply interested in an investigation being made by the house postoffice committee, of which he is a member, in regard to rates on second-class mail. Mr. Bell is personally in favor of changing the postal laws so as to permit newspapers to be carried at 1 cent per pound, but to increase the rates on periodicals, such as magazines, in proportion to the amount of advertisements carried by them. He would charge periodicals carrying one-fourth advertisements 2 cents a pound; those carrying half advertisements, 3 cents a pound, and those carrying three-fourths advertisements, 4 cents a pound.

He does not believe that it is just to have the government transport advertising matter upon which some corporations make immense profits, at the same rate charged for distributing general news matter. He believes his plan would place the increased charge where it rightfully belongs, and cut down materially the annual postoffice deficit on that class of matter.

Walker Denied Admission.

When Representative Walker went to the department of commerce today to be present at the hearing given to Mayor R. J. Davant, of Savannah, who came here today to urge the location of the headquarters of the sixth lighthouse district at Savannah, he found the mayor in private conference with Assistant Secdetary Sweet, and was denied admission. Mr. Walker seemed greatly surprised and a little peeved, because when Brunswick, who interests he represents, was given a hearing it was a public affair, and all who wished were admitted. The sixth lighthouse district embraces the states of North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick, Fernandina and Jacksonville are competing for the new depot, which is to cost $125,000.

Re-Survey of St. Mary's River.

Representative Walker was today advised by Major Kingman, chief of the board of army engineers, that a re-survey has been ordered of the St. Mary's river with a view to improvement of the channel from its mouth to the western border of the city of St. Mary. A former survey secured by Mr. Walker, and made by Major Kingman when he was the local engineer of Georgia, was favorable to the improvement of St. Mary's river, but was reversed by the general board at Washington.

Crisp Leaves Today.

Representative Crisp went to his office at the capitol today, remaining about an hour, and returning at once to his hotel. He will leave Thursday morning for Colorado Springs.

DIVORCE IS SOUGHT FOR PACIFIC ROADS

Salt Lake City, Utah, February 11.—Attorney General McReynolds filed a Sherman law suit here today to break the Southern Pacific's control over the Central Pacific railway and its subsidiary Pacific Coast State lines.

Cancellation of the Southern Pacific's ninety-year lease and a perpetual injunction were asked.

In addition to the two railroads, other defendants named are Union Trust Company of New York (trustee for the Southern Pacific under a mortgage and holder of the stock of the Central Pacific), William Sproule, Julius Kruttschnitt, Robert Goelet, Cornelius N. Bliss, Walter P. Bliss, Henry W. DeForest, J. Horace Harding, Charles W. Harkness, Henry E. Huntington, James N. Jarvie and Ogden Mills and L. F. Loree.

The petition alleges that the two roads are operated under the same management; that there is discrimination by them in favor of each other against other and competitive roads. and that those conditions are in restraint of trade.

It was declared, further, that the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific are competitive lines. The decree sought, the petition avers, would restore competition to portions of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Louisiana.

The petition declares that, in operation, the management favors its "Sunset Route," its joint rail and water service between the eastern seaboard and the Pacific coast, allowing as little business as possible to go through the Ogden gateway and over the Central Pacific tracks.

Purpose of the Suit.

Washington, February 11.—The government's case against the Southern Pacific has been under consideration for several months. Attorney General McReynolds is understood to have brought the suit not only to break up a combination which he contends is in restraint of trade, but also in the hope that its successful prosecution will be followed by acquisition of the Central Pacific road by the Union Pacific, giving the latter a through line of its own from the Missouri river to San Francisco.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY BY CONGRESS DISTRICTS

Washington, February 11.—Congressional districts instead of states probably will be the units of representation in a presidential primary plan being worked out by house democrats.

Chairman Rucker, of the committee on elections of president and vice president, so predicted after conferring today with President Wilson on the general features of the plan. There seems to be an agreement on the idea of having delegates instructed for the particular candidates who receive a plurality in the congressional districts.

The unit rule so far as the states are concerned, would automatically be abolished, and a nomination of president and vice president would result from the vote in the primary elections in congressional districts. It has not been determined whether a plurality or majority would be required for nomination.

Secretary Bryan recently indorsed the idea of making the congressional district the unit.

STATE BONDS OFFERED DIRECT TO THE PEOPLE

Boston, February 11.—State 4 per cent bonds amounting to $6,325,000 will be sold directly to the people, Frederick W. Mansfield, state treasurer, announced today after he had rejected every bid by dealers. It will be the first time in the history of the state that its bonds have been disposed of in this way.

The highest bid on the entire issue was 109,279, and this is the price at which the bonds will be offered to the public.

Imes Addresses Waiters.

Rev. G. Lake Imes, who is giving a series of addresses at the First Congregational church, colored, gave a strong address to the waiters and maids at the Winecoff hotel yesterday morning. Today at noon he will speak to the men and women at the Guthman Steam laundry. Last night he spoke on "The Business Principles of Jesus." "No business can prosper," he said, "unless the employees obey orders. Jesus wants men to obey the orders of God. Jesus wants every man to line up with him in making this earth like heaven. The man who fails to use his ability is wicked as well as the man who misuses it."

each as large as Wednesday's transaction.

Offices Renting Well.

The downtown offices have scarce any space left. The new Hurt, as well as the new Healy building, are going well, with nearly all of their quarters under lease. Some of the tenants in the Healy building have already moved in.

M. C. Kiser Rumors.

M. C. Kiser is on the verge of making one of the largest deals in residence property seen yet this year. The details of the sales are not yet ready, but in the course of the next few days, news of the propositions will be made known.

Good Price for Lease.

C. P. Tolbert and David Karasek have purchased the lease of a store in the Candler building from Shelley Ivey. The location will be occupied by the Scotch Woolen Mills company. The lease has five years yet to run. The aggregate consideration in the sale is believed to have totaled $20,000.

Sales Holding Up.

From the report of the R. L. Turman company, sales of property are holding up so far this month.

The Turman agency reports the following sales:

For F. S. Hardin to Andrew Calhoun, a five-room cottage at the corner of Luckie and Mills streets for a consideration of $4,750. The lot fronts 63½ feet on Luckie street with a depth of 90 feet on Mills. This sale is a result of the Luckie street section regrading improvements which have caused much activity in the Luckie street section for the last two years.

For W. C. Hendrix to W. E. Chambers, a house and lot on Georgia avenue for $2,700. The property is located beyond Capitol avenue. This is one of several sales made on this street since the new pavement has been put down and plans were put on foot to make this avenue a boulevard from West End to Grant park.

For a client to Frank S. Hardin, a vacant lot on the east side of Highland avenue, just beyond Kentucky avenue, for $2,250. The lot is 52x200.

GETTING MY LESSON, SAYS BANKER RAINE

Memphis Man Hopes His Plight Will Be Warning. To Be Arraigned Today.

Memphis, Tenn., February 11.—Unless plans made tonight are disarranged C. Hunter Raine, former president of the wrecked Mercantile bank, will be one of half a dozen prisoners brought from the county jail to criminal court tomorrow to enter his formal plea to an indictment charging that be diverted $788,000 of the bank's funds to his own use. So far as can be ascertained Raine has not arranged for counsel nor has it been stated whether his plea will be other than that given at the time of his arraignment Monday on a bench warrant charging embezzlement. when he pleaded guilty and urged that he be committed to jail.

Besides embezzlement the indictment charges larceny and fraudulent breach of trust. Friends visited him today in a final effort to induce him to combat the charges and endeavor to arrange for bail pending trial. Whether they were successful was not stated.

Mr. Raine's only comment when told of his indictment was "I am getting my lesson. I hope it will be a lesson to others."

Meanwhile the audit of the bank's books under the direction of the state superintendent of banks is proceeding. Definite announcement as to the amount of the alleged shortage estimated by members of the board of directors at approximately a million dollars, will not be made for a number of days.

Certain of the depositors started a movement today to present a petition in criminal court asking that an exhaustive probe into the affairs of the bank be ordered. County Attorney General Z. N. Estes gave assurance, when the matter was informally brought to his attention, that his office already was engaged in collecting evidence which, if additional indictments found warranted, would be presented to the grand jury, which will reconvene Friday.

An extensive program of lumber camp improvements was approved, companies in the association to pay a pro rata share of expenses.

A committee was appointed to visit Washington to look after the interests of the lumber manufacturers. Members of the committee are: John H. Kirby, Houston; C. S. Keith and J. B. White, Kansas City; H. H. Patterson, Atmore, Ala.; H. H. Tift, Tifton, Ga.; H. H. Foster, Malvern, Ark., and J. E. Rhodes, Chicago.
